Returns to Washington and Has a Conference.

Alger Tells Him All He Knows of the Situation.

The Secretary Says There is No Hurry for Soldiers:

SUGGESTIONS OF A FURLOUGH.

Those in the Islands Could Be Re enlisted-Four Months to Visit Their Friends in the States Casualty List.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, June 28 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] What amounts practically to a decision to send reinforcements to Gen. Otis beyond the limit of 30,000 men fixed by that officer as necessary men fixed by that officer as necessary to quell the rebellion, was reached at a conference held at the White House today by President McKinley and Secretary Aigar. They had a long talk over the question of the advisability of augmenting the Philippine army. They did not decide definitely to raise volunteers, but the action determined on will be equivalent to that.

The plan adopted is to continue the enlistment of recruits at regular army recruiting stations beyond the limit of 65,000 enlisted regulars authorized by the Army Reorganization Act. The men thus secured will be charged on the rolls to the provisional volunteer force of 35,000 men. No limit has been placed on the number of enlistments to be made in excess of 65,000, but the administration will decide in the near future just how many men will be needed by Gen. Otis.

Orders for continuing enlistments were issued by the War Department this evening. Officers in charge of recruiting men for the regular service say that the limit of 65,000 has been the regular army, the War Department will have no difficulty in getting all the men it wants, and if the entire force of 35,000 volunteers is to be mustered in, the number can be secured without increasing the number of recruiting stations, in a few months. By what authority the War Department will enlist these additional men through the regular army recruiting channels is not clear. While they will be charged on the rolls against the force of 35,000 volunteers, they will not be distinct from regular recruits. Steps have been taken by the admin istration to ascertain whether the ourse of the department is consistent with the law. There is little likelihood that the law officers of the government will declare the method illegal, as by the time a sufficient number of recruits are obtained, volunteer regiments will be organized with officers appointed from civil life. It is evident that the instructions to continue recruiting be yond the legal limit of 65,000 is merely preliminary to the muster-in of volun teer regiments. It is believed in military quarters tha there will be nine volunteer regiments of infantry organized. These will absorb about 14,000 men, each regiment being of full war strength. The War Department is heartily in favor of or ganizing nine regiments. The decision of the President and Secretary Alger to increase the military force of the United States is not surprising. While Gen. Otis has consistently adhered to his original statement that 30,000 men would be enough to quell the insurrec-tion, the administration has been urged by prominent and influential supporters all over the country to send Gen. Otis enough troops to make short work of

The administration is determined to use every means in its power to bring the insurrection to an end, and, if nine additional regiments are not sufficien for that purpose, more will be organ-ized. The new troops will hardly be ready for service before the end of the Philippine rainy season.

ANOTHER VERSION. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.1 CHICAGO, June 27.-A Washington spatch to the Tribune says:
"As a result of a conference tween the President and Secretary Alger this afternoon, it has been decided to begin the enlistment of volunteer pines. Orders will be sent out tomorrow to this effect. It is proposed to arm and equip at once three brigades or about 10,000 men, and to continu authorized by law are secured.

"There will be no call upon the States. The regiments will be organized as United States volunteers. Officers will be appointed by the President and assigned to regiments with-out regard to State lines. The maximum of the regular army of 65,000 men has been secured, and now enlistments | Nominated for Governor on the will be for the provisional army to make up the total strength of 100,000 men. Gen. Otis has 29,300 men on the ground or under orders, and volunteers will be rushed to him until he has an effective force of 50,000 men. In the enlistments of the United States volunteers, veterans of the late war, including those who did not get beyond the home camps, but were seasoned, will be given the preference, and the ame will be true of the officers.

"A brigadier-general for every three regiments, and a major-general for each division of three brigades will be appointed. They will be part regulars and part volunteers, and Gen. Joe Wheeler will be among their number."

SECREARY ALGER TALKS

IBY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, June 27.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] Immediately upon President McKinley's return to Washington to day, he had a conference with several embers of the Cabinet concerning the Philippine situation, particularly disussing the queston of additional troops for Gen. Otis. During the President's absence there has been many dispatches rom Gen. Otis, and these were laid before him. There appeared from these dispatches to be no pressing need of rushing more troops across the Pacific, although more will be needed later on.

Much has been said lately about a probable call for froops. Critics of the administration picture American interests as going to smash in the Philippines because more troops are not sent. A call for volunteers has been predicted by pencil strategists every day for weeks. After today's conference, Secretary Alger was asked if a call is likely to be issued.

"Not at present," he said. "In the near future then?" was asked. "We are now rectuiting troops as fast as possible," said Secretary Alger, "We have been recruiting them several vecks; we shall continue recruiting them till we have the number of men we need. Then we shall stop."

So there is no call in sight, but recruiting is going on. After the regular army is filled up, and some authorities have it already filled by new recruits, recruiting will go on just the same, but there will be no call for troops, and Gen. Otis will get all the men he needs, as he asks for them. AN "AFFECTIVE" FORCE. PASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.1

WASHINGTON, June 27.-The Presdent was in conference for a time with Secretary Alger respecting the best method of carrying out Gen. Otis's desire to maintain, at least throughout the rainy season, an effective fighting force of no less than 30,000 men in the island. In the general's last estimate, it is noted that he asks for an "effective" force of 30,000 men. This estimate will oblige the War Departmen to secure more troops, as Gen. Otis's sick report and his casualty list make it evident that provision must be made at once to supply a shortage of about 15 per cent. in his forces.

The officials are taking into consideration the assurance of the medical authorities that no diminution to the disability rate can be expected during the wet season, but that the condition may grow even worse as the season advances. Many of these men wil have to be invalided home, it being demonstrated, particularly in the typhold cases, that convalescence is rare unless the patient leaves the Philippines. Thus the department will be under the necessity of keeping up a steady flow of recruits from the United States, if Gen. Otis's desire is com-

The recruiting officers' reports indicate an ability on their part to supply 1000 men a week, more than sufficient it is believed, to meet Gen. Otis's need in the future, while for the present the department has assembled 5000 recruits at San Francisco, ready for transportation as soon as ships can be

The Successful Candidate Greeter With Noisy Acclamation_Charles Dick Says Senator Hanna Will Be Republican Chairman.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) June 27 .- Wil iam Goebel, who, with an iron grasp has ruled the Democratic State Con vention since it assembled, nearly week ago, was tonight nominated for Governor on the twenty-sixth ballot, after a contest unparalleled in the State for bitterness and determination on the part of the winner, or for skillful manipulation. The Goebel forces held the opposition closely down to business all day, forcing continuous balloting, defeating them when they showed signs of weak ness and sought a sine-die adjourn ment, compelling a vote on a proposition to drop the hindmost man on each ballot after the twesty-fifth, and came out of the final trial of strength shortly afer 10 o'clock tonight with colors fly ing. Stone was dropped on the twentyfifth ballot, and Hardin proved unable to control enough of the Stone votes to win. The scenes during the last ballot were dramatic, though not so exciting as many of the delegates expected.

A morning session of the conver tion was held, at which six fruitless ballots were taken. After a recess until 3 o'clock, two more ballots were taken with a result almost exactly like the first taken Saturday night. This made twenty-one ballots in all, the last one resulting: Stone, 398; Hardin, 355; Goebel, 338.

Ben L. Hardin, a brother of the candidate for Governor, then offered a resolution providing that the convention adjourn sine die, and the State Central Committee be empowered to take any action necessary to place a ticket in the field for the campaign of 1899. The chairman declared the resolution out of order, and refused to recognize an appeal.

The twenty-second ballot showed the effect of the adjournment resolution forces. Stone lost about thirty votes. At this point E. A. Gullion offered resolution providing that after the twenty-fifth ballot the hindmost candidate be dropped and not voted for thereafter. The Stone and Hardin leaders made another stand, but they could not control their forces. The resolutwenty-fifth ballot' the hindmost canthereafter. The Stone and Hardin lead-

tion was adopted by a vote of 572 twenty-fifth was: Stone, 330; Hardin 378; doebel, 363. Under the resolution adopted by the convention Capt. W. J. Stone, having received the smallest number of votes, was dropped, and the next ballot was begun. It was concluded with difficulty, and announced as follows: Goebel, 560; Hardin, 531.

This provoked as much noise as any event of the convention, and for the first time nearly all the delegates joined in it. Mr. Goebel was introduced, and made a short speech of thanks. When the speechmaking was con-cluded the convention was adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the ticket will be completed.

Failure of Conference Committee in Chicago to Agree Upon a Scale

Will Precipitate a General Strike Friday Night. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] CHICAGO, June 27.—The American Tin Plate Company, which, barring four mills, has a monopoly of the tin-four mills, has a monopoly of the tin-plate manufacturing interests of the United States, is facing the prospect of a general strike next Friday night, the result of which would be to close all its mills. Twenty-five thousand of a general strike next Friday night, the result of which would be to closs all its mills. Twenty-five thousand skilled workmen and 25,000 laborers are likely to be involved. President Theodore Schaffer and Secretary John Williams, with a com-mittee of the Amalgamated Associa-

The Chicago officials deny there is any ill-feeling resulting from their failure to agree on a scale, but it is admitill-feeling resulting from their failure to agree on a scale, but it is admit-ted that the mills are to be shut down. at The Hague has led Viscount Mieura, the fire-eating Japanese general, to join hands with Count Okuma in a crusade against the extension of the army and navy and the increase of taxes. The viscount thinks that Japan is under no necessity of being prepared for miltiary action. He says:

"China has neither power nor intention to fight us. The Siberian railway being unfit for rapid transportation of troops, Russia ought not to be a cause of disquietude on our part. No European power will be able to send an army of 30,000 or 50,000 men to the Far East.

"It is not necessary that we should send an army of 30,000 or 50,000 men to the Far East.

"It is not necessary that we should take the Far Eastern fleets of European powers as the standard of our navy. In a war in which this country may be involved, decisive battles will be fought on land in the last resort. A naval defeat, therefore, is not of serious consequence. Neither is this country in need of a big standing army. Seeing that European powers are not able to send large military forces, there will be ample time after the breaking-off of diplomatic relations to make the requisite preparations for repelling foreign invasion."

This news of Viscount Mieura's views has created a sensation in Japan.

MILWAUKEE HAS ROOSEVELT WITHIN HER GATES.

The Colonel of the Rough Rider Greeted With Immense Enthusism and He Comes Up Smiling.

Crowds Met Him at the Stations or the Way and Telegrams Poured in Upon Him from All Quarters.

Not the Least Plensing of These Messages Was One from Los Angeles-Floral Parade Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] MILWAUKEE, June 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Hello Teddy!" That was the cry that went through the main streets of Milwaukee when Gov. Roosevelt arrived, tired, but jolly, from his Las Vegas trip. It was 11 o'clock when the special Northwestern train bearing him whirled into the station only ninety-six minutes out from Chi-cago. Inside and outside of the stas iron gates throngs of people the Cream City, shouted all kinds endearing appellations to the colonel of the Rough Riders. From the Land of the Cactus to the Badger State is a long jump-more than forty hours' fast traveling over the rails—but the Governor came out of the private car of President Hughitt of the Northvestern with a smile on his face, a fond admonition to Lieut. Ferguson not to let his grips get lost, and a wave of his white hat to the multitude. If he feels tired after a week of extraor-dinary receptions and journeying, he refuses to show it, and his Milwaukee entertainers appreciate this fact.

Gov. Roosevelt's daylight journey across Missouri, Iowa and Illinois was a delightful one from every point of view. A crowd met him at Marcel-line and another at Bucklin. Tele-grams poured into Paul Morton's car begging the Governor to speak at Fort Madison, Ia., and Galesburg, Ill. From the latter place came special messages from the Mayor and Judge Phillip Post soliciting speeches. Not the least pleasing event of the day was the re-ceipt of this telegram, dated at Los Angeles, from Gen, Harison Gray Otis: "Present my respects to Gov.

He Has Called Upon Companies to Help Lighten the Burden of Taxation on the People of Sacramento.

Iwenty-five Miners Reported Dead in Siberia-Crop News. Fee Bill Valid.

SACRAMENTO, June 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Today was the date set for the hearing of C. B. Dewees, secretary the Continental Fruit Express, be fore Assessor Berkey, but owing to a misunderstanding relative to the time of Berkey's arrival home from San Francisco, where he had gone to attend a trial, the hearing was postponed tend a trial, the hearing was postponed until tomorrow afternoon.

Berkey returned home today and made the following statement regard-ing his attempt to uncover property which the refrigerator-car companies have heretofore concealed from assess-

"I am certain that many of these re frigerator cars were somewhere in the State on the 1st day of last March, and intend to find out where they were. If I can find that some of them were in Sacramento county, so much the bet ter for us, but no matter where they were, every bit of property that es-capes assessment increases the tax burden for others, and every bit of newly-discovered property decreases that burden, no matter where the property may be found.

"I had a brief talk with Robert Graham, manager of the Fruit Growers Express, last Saturday, and learned from him that cars belonging to the which he represents were most all in Los Angeles county on the 1st day of last March. I am satisfied to have located these cars, and will in-form the Assessor of Los Angeles county of the find.

"I am not certain whether these cars are properly assessable by county as-sessors or by the State Board of Equallation but I am certain that they should be assessed by some one, and that they will be. The Board of Equalization will undoubtedly take the matter up, and we will learn what is the proper means of reaching this class of property."

[County Assessor Alexander Caldwell said last night that if express companies had sent their cars into Low Angeles county to avoid assessment, he would see that they were assessed to the full limit "We can level on these people very hard," he said, "and I will take steps immediately to learn if they have tried to avoid assessment by moving their rolling stock to this county. If they have they will be assessed."]

CENTRAL PACIFIC ABSORPTION,

British Stockholder Wants the Pro cess Stopped Forthwith. SOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—In the United States Circuit Court today Wal-ter Morshead of London, who states that he is the owner of 240 shares of Central Pacific stock, filed a bill in equity to restrain the board of directors of the Central Pacific from taking such measures as may lead to the absorption of the Central Pacific by the South-ern Pacific, and to stop payment of interest on new bonds or mortgages, if issued or made. The plaintiff states that he brings the suit on behalf of himself and other English stockholders of the Central Pacific, who may hereafter join him in this action.

The complaint, which is a mammoth document, antagonized the proposed readjustment plan, by which it is alleged the bonded debt of the Central Pacific Company is to be increased from $116,000,000 to $160,000,000; to transfer the various sinking funds of the Central Pacific Company, amounting to many millions of dollars, to the Southern Pacific Company, and to substitute the stock of the Southern corporation for that of the Central. The holders of stock are to pay $2 a share, it is alleged, for the the Central. The holders of stock are to pay $2 a share, it is alleged, for the privilege of exchanging the stock. The prayer of the complaint is for an injunction to restrain the exchange of stock certificates and to restrain the proposed increase of the debt of the Central Pacific Company.

AGUIRRE'S APPOINTMENTS.

Foley Gets a Job and Barnhill and McClure May. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The ax has commence to descend at San Quentin, and i mises to cut a wide swath before it is through. On July 1, artin Aguirre, the newly-appointed warden, succeeds W. E. Hale, and with the change will ne many others in the personnel of the officials in charge of the priso The first of these changes was a nounced yesterday, when James Russell was appointed to the captaincy of the guard at a salary of $140 a month. This position as present is held by Capt. J. F. Birlem.

The appointment of F. Foley, father the private secretary of Gov. Gage, commissary, followed. This pays to a month. Foley is to take the place to be vacated by Thomas Wil-kins. Russell, the new captain, is a former Chief of Police of San Diego. Capt. Birlem, who was appointed by hale from Monterey county, made a hard fight to retain his position, and brought much influence to bear. He has made a good officer, but retires to way for a personal friend of the mew warden.

Today and tomorrow will see more changes, while a number of others will be announced when the new regime is in effect. Capt. Edgar of the inner yard, it is said, will not be disturbed, nor will several of his subordinates. Two of the new men to be appointed are McCrure and Barnhill of Los Anance of the said, which he received in the abdomen. Christy had been in the company of a woman known as "Mae," who, he claims, robbed him of his money. After a wordy argument with the woman, nor will several of his subordinates. Two of the new men to be appointed him. Brooks stepped into a saloon, and securing a revolver, fired a num-geles. Both served as deputies under Former Sheriff Burr of Los Angeles. What positions they are to assume has not as yet been given out, though it is known that they are to be located in good berths. Both are at San Quentin now.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The following summary of the weather and crop conditions existing in California for the past week has been prepared by the Department of Agriculture:
The average temperature for the week has been slightly below, the newest has been slightly below, the newest last here slightly below.

has been slightly below the normal, with cloudy or partly cloudy weather for several days, and fog in some sections. Light showers occurred Saturday in the coast and bay sections, day in the coast and bay sections, the Sacramento Valley and in the northern portion of the San Joaquin. Haying was interefered with to some extent, but the damage was very light, while higher grain and fruit escaped material injury. Grain harbest is progressing rapidly, and in most sections the quality and yelld are far above expectations, wheat especially will be a very heavy crop, exceupt in sections affected-by the drought, principally in the extreme south. Hay has proved a good crop in nearly all sections. Deciduous fruits are ripening rapidly, and with the exception of apricots and prunes, the yield promises to be above the average. Peaches are of excellent quality, and the crop is heavy.

Grapes continue thrifty, with the prospect of at least an average crop. Corn, potatoes and beans are growing satisfactorily. Discouraging reports are received as to the condition of sugar beets in the South. Citrus fruits in the Sacramento were somewhat slow owing to hot northwest winds. Walnuts are in good condition.

SMELTER FOR SHASTA

German Capital Interested in the REDDING. June 27.-It is stated that German capital is soon to build a smelter in Shasta county. During the last three years George Bayha, local representative of a German syndicate, has filed locations on twenty-five cop per claims on Stillwater Creek, about twenty miles from Redding. Expensive twenty miles from Redding. Expensive development work has been done on these claims. Bayha has secured bonds on adjoining claims, and has just made a payment on one bonded for $30,000. It is proposed to erect a smelter hear the site of the claims. The syndicate has secured options on considerable adjacent lands. Electricity generated by water power will be used for motive power and for other purposes. There seems every evidence that the German syndicate will shortly begin the work of building a smelter, and also a railway line, eight miles in length, to connect with the Southern Pacific. The new smelter will doubtless take a great deal of copper out of Shasta county.

She served a sentence at the workhouse, the result of which was workhouse, the result of which was damage suits filed by her in the United states Court for $1,000,000 against the cities of Fremont and Todelo. She was arraighed for perjury in connection with the trial of Superintendent Ecckwith of the workhouse whom she had before the City Council for alleged abuse while serving her sentence.

W. P. HERMANN BURNED.

Land Commissioner's Brother the Victim of a Lamp Explosion.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.,) June 27.—W. P. Hermann, supervisor of the Grand Cañon forest reserve, was fatally burned by the explosion of a lamp, some time last night. It is supposed that he went to sleep and left the lamp burning, and that it exploded, setting the heading and scoredning every fire to the bedding and scorching every thing in the room.

It is probable that he was awakene and that he extinguished the flames and and that he exunguished the hames and was rendered unconscious, in which condition he was discovered early this morning and has since remained in that condition, slowly sinking. Mr. Hermann is a brother of Land Commissioner Binger Hermann, and his family reside at Myrtle Point, Or.

RUSHING FRUITS EAST. Over Fifty Carloads a Day Going from California.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Decidous-fruit shipments are being rushed to the East over the Central Pacific at the rate of fifty carloads a day, and extra trains are being used to accommodate the traffic. Up to last Saturday night the total shipments for the season amounted to $50 carloads of 24,-

000 pounds each. From present indications, the season's business will amount to between 900 and 10,000 carloads, against about 500 last year. Peaches, plums and table last year. Feaches, pums and table prunes are the principal green fruits now being sent to eastern markets. Prices continue firm, and as a result the California orchardists are having a most profitable season.

Welburn's Case Ending.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The case of ex-Collector Welburn, now on trial in the District Court, is expected to go to the jury this afternoon. Atterney favin McNab made an earnest plea for Welburn's acquittal, at the hands of the jury, on the ground that there was no evidence against him, and that the government had used unfair measures to secure his conviction. Frank H. Gould followed for the defense. He will conclude his arguments tomorrow. United States Attorney Comba will then close for the government.

Wickersham Estate.

Wickersham Estate

SANTA ROSA, June 27.—Judge Burnett today appointed Fred A Wickersham, special administrator for the estate of Isaac G. Wickersham, a deceased ploneer and banker of Petaluma, whose estate is valued at over $1.-000,000. The will was filed for probate yesterday. One of the reasons for the appointment being made, as stated in the petition, was the fact that a contest was threatened by his son, Frank Wickersham of Fresno, and that certain property of the estate had to be administered upon without delay.

CAPTAIN'S CARLESSNESS.

Paris's Commander Mistook Log En-tries and Wrecked His Steamer. [A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 27 .- A special cable to the Tribune from London, says the Paris disaster turns out to be a simple matter. On leaving Cherbourg, Capt. Watkins entered the departure in the "Six thirty-five p.m." using a pencil. The next entry was: "Passing Caskets, 7:35."

The course steered was almost due west, in order to make Lizzard light. So as to go through the passage be-tween Cornwall and the islands, the usual practice is, if the Lizzard light is not made at a certain time, to change the course to the south, and go clear of the island. On this occasion

Belgian Magazine Will Publish an Onslaught by Ricault d'Hericault, [A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 27 .- A dispatch to the Herald from Brussels, says the Revenue-General, a well-known Bel-glan magazine, patronized by most of the leaders of the Catholic party, has change the course to the south, and go clear of the island. On this occasion this was impossible, as, owing to the misty night, they could not see the Eddystone light.

The captain consulted the log when about opposite Eddystone. He mistook the entry, and read the time of the village at 7.35 o'clock, the time of leaving Cherbourg. Consequently the captain judged himself about seventeen miles further from the Cornwall coast than he really was, and delayed changing the course by one hour, just sufficient to run the Parisiright on the coast.

Gallant Wisconsin Crew Loses in the Last Two Hundred Yards of the Great Struggle by Columbia Never Was "in it" After the First Mile-Twenty Thou-and People Yell Until They are Hoarse.

The Alloy of the Shamrock-Tod Sloan's Mount Wins at Newmarket-Columbia Meets Defender-Ball and Races.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] POUGHKEEPSIE, (N. Y.,) June 27.— Twenty thousand people today saw one of the most exciting four-mile boat races ever witnessed in the history of college rowing. Five thousand people on the observation train yelled themelves hoarse in frantic appeals their their various college crews to do their best, and with the other 15,000 they saw the red and blue carried over the line a winner by a short half length from the Wisconsins, who lost in the last 200 yards by bad steering. Cornell, the victor of former years, pulled in after them, full tour lengths in the rear, and Columbia, never in the fight after the end of the first male, trailed a good three lengths in the stern of the Cornell boat.

It was the kind of a race that makes the blood tingle, and was made so by the crew that came over a thousand miles to meet former victors, for with-out the gallant Wisconsins in the race, it would have been a doleful procession after the second mile was entered. To say there was surprise on the observa-tion train and amid the great crowds upon the bank when the Wisconsin shell swept mile after mile of the the bank when the Wisconsin tion train and amid the great crowds upon the bank when the Wisconsin shell swept mile after mile of the course until the last half was reached, with a clear lead over all the crews, is putting it mildly. When the people on the bank, unable to place the stranger crew, looked toward the observation train inquiringly and were told that the leader was Wisconsin, they were almost dumb with amazement, and when those on the train saw the gallant struggle, mile after mile, they dropped their appeals for their own arews and yelled in a friendly manner for the boys from the West.

The alleged "ragged stroke," the "badly-keeled boat," the too-long reach" all were forgotten, as the fast-moving shell kept its sharp nose to the fore, and then the people saw the leaders turn out toward the shore at the finish and lose the race to the men from Pennsylvania by a short half length. Well did the Pennsylvanians obey the injunction of Ellis Ward to not lose their heads. From the first eighth of a mile they rowed a stern hard chase, at one time being astern of both Cornell and Wisconsin, but their pluck and endurance sent them over the line first in good time, and by such a small margin that the glory is greater.

For Cornell, the winner of many battles, the contest proved to be a race only in two miles. For those first two miles she did gallant work, but she was struggling against evidently better crews, and it was only by exertions of a phenomenal nature that she managed to keep the nose of the boat ahead of Pennsylvania for a brief time in the second mile. Of Columbia, it may be said that she was outclassed from the start, and, barring an accident, there was never a time when she stood a chance of winning the race. She went to the rear in the first quarter of a mile, although she made a good start, and she stayed there all through.

About 6 o'clock the Pennsylvania crew arrived at the starting point, where the observation train already was, and then there was a long wait, because the Columbia launch, while towing the shell up th towing the shell up the river, had broken down.

It was 6:43 o'clock when the referee's boat signaled to Cornell and Wisconsin, both crews being at the Cornell float, just above the starting point, to come out because Columbia had just rowed into sight. Precisely seven minutes later the four crews were in line, and all had answered the referee's query, "Are you ready?" in the affirmative. Cornell had the channel course, where the advantage is said to lie, with Columbia next to her, and then came Pennsylvania, with Wisconsin close inshore. It was rather pitiful to hear the three eastern crews get cheer after cheer, and the western crew not any.

wisconsin close inshore. It was rather pitiful to hear the three gastern crews get cheer after cheer, and the western crew not any.

"Please keep quiet, observation train," called the referee, and then there was quietness emough so that the referee's voice could plainly be heard saying: "Are you all ready?"

"Yes," came back the answer from all the coxswains. Then the pistol flashed, and the four crews seemed to take the water together. Hardly had the crews rowed five lengths before it, was seen that No. 2 of the Wisconsin. Crew had jumped his seat, and the coxswain threw up his hands, appealing for a new start. Which he had a right to do inside of thirty seconds.

The referee's boat whistled the crews back, and the fact that Cornell's boat was furthest down the river at the time raised Cornell's hopes. A second time the crews were lined, and another start was made. For some reason, or other, some one in the Columbia's boat raised his hand as if in trouble, and for a second time the boats were called back to the start.

It was 7:05 o'clock when the third start was given, and this time the crews got away without accident. This start was a beautiful one, the four boats' noses seeming to hang together for the first two strokes. As they settled in the stroke taught them by the various coaches, Wisconsin seemed to be rowing the least number of strokes per minute of any of the crews, but her boat was going faster than any of the others. Wisconsin rowed 32, Pennsylvania 34, Cornell 34 and Columbia 33. Before the first eighth of a mile was finished the Wisconsin boat had shoved its nose ahead of the other crews, with Cornell second, Pennsylvania hanging well onto her. and Columbia third, dropping

SHAMROCK'S CONSTRUCTION.

Accident to Cup-challenger Proves Strength of Its Metal.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REFORT.]

LONDON, June 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] It is said in authoritative circles that the alloy, of which the Shamrock is constructed above the water line, is composed of three parts of aluminum and one past nickel. Her deck is also said to be constructed of sheets of the same metal, three-sixtenth of an inch thick, thus effecting a saving of about two-tenths in the wight of the deck alone, and stiffentials as a sing of about two-tenths in the wight of the deck alone, and stiffentials as a saving of about two-tenths in the metal, while the force of the impact was enough to swing the yacht around about four points, the only damage done to her by the vessel which collided with the Shamprock, was a dent about half an inch deep, with no sign of tracking on the warfer and the race.

This afternoon's skirmish was started on equal terms, with a strong breeze blowing from the southwest, a fairly smooth sea, and no yachts to bother either boat. The reachts and the windward about the wild and the race started side by side, the Defender to the windward about the wild and the put of seg for about four proves file wild have net the Columbia and the right-of-way on the columbia and has she not reline from Brenton's year. The parting of the columbia of the columbia caused at the recommendation of the columbia and the Defender will start for New London tomorrow morning, and will undoubtedly race all the way. After the race today Mr. Islin expressed himself as fully satisfied with the Shamprock weight of the deck alone, and stillening the yacht's hull more effectively than could be accomplished with wood.

It is considered that yesterday's accident proved the strength of the metal, while the force of the impact was enough to swing the yacht around about four points, the only damage done to her by the vessel which collided with the Shamrock, was a dent about half an inch deep, with no sign of cracking on the surface of the metal.
The Shamrock's mast was stepped today, and the fitting of her spars and standing and running gear is proceeding rapidly The length of her lower mast is given as 106 feet; het topmast is said to measure 70 feet, and it is reported that her boom is 110 feet long.
A new plate has been inserted in the place of the one damaged yesterday.
The cup-challenger will start for Southampton today. Numbers of people visited the dock for the purpose of seeing the Shamrock, but only those in possession of permits were allowed

SPECULATION ON SIZE. [A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

LONDON, June 27.—[By Atlantic Ca-ble.] With the exception of the Times, the papers do not indulge in speculation as to the build of the Shamrock. The Standard, which estimates her length at 128 feet and her draught, with all sparse fittings on board, at 1916:

NEWPORT, June 27.—The yachtsmen who saw the brushes between the new sloop-yacht Columbia and the Defender, the champion of 1895, today, are not so enthusiastic tonight over the speed of the new boat as they were after the short skirmish off Jamestown on Sunday forenoon.

Today the two great racers met under different conditions from those which prevailed in their first trying-out. Instead of a light air which scarcely heeled the two boats, the wind today was a good whole-sail breeze from the southwest, which compelled the crews of the racers to lie out to windward in real racing fashion, and under this condition the Defender made a most excellent showing, and her performance this afternoon somewhat depressed the owners and admirers of the Columbia. This morning both boats sailed dead to the windward for ten minutes from Benton's Reef lightship, allowing for the lead which the Columbia had for the start, the new sloop gained about one and one-half minutes in fully one and a quarter hours of steady sailing under equal conditions.

During the morning's brush the Defender held her own in the short races ter hours of steady satting under equationditions.

During the morning's brush the Defender held her own in the short races toward Point Judith with bows a third out. This afternoon the rry-out revealed the fact that the Columbia, in her present condition, is not going to have an easy time with the old boat when they get together on the measured coarse and with a stiff breeze blowing. The yachtemen and others said that the Columbia is a very fast craft, and the tuning that she will get between now and October will certainly make her a fit boat to meet the British challenger Shamrock under any circumstances.

OPENS THE PORTS.

Gen. Otis Letting Loose the Flood of Commerce.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] MANILA, June 28, 7 a.m.—[By Manila Cable.] Gen. Otis has ordered the opening to trade of many important ports which have been closed since the outbreak. These include San Fer-nando, on the west coast of Luzon; Aparri, on the north coast: 'Curimos and all ports in the islands of Sama and Leyte.

Many ships used in inter-island commerce have been tied up in the harbon here for months, and the shippers and merchants have been urging the gow-ernment to raise the blockade. When the decision was made known yester-day, the scene in the customhouse was as animated as the floor of an American stock exchange. It was a busy day.

day, the scene in the customhouse was as animated as the floor of an American stock exchange. It was a busy day. Ship-owners rushed to get their clearance papers.

There will be a great boom in the hemp business, which has been at a standstill. The ships will race to bring the first cargo before the demand weakens. As there is a heavy export duty on hemp, this will greatly increase the revenues. The interests of the natives, as well as the merchants and traders generally, led Gen. Otis to take this action. Delegates from the southern islands told him that the cessation of business was bringing much suffering to peaceful inhabitants. Gunboats will protect the shipping in some ports, but elsewhere shippers must risk confiscation by the insurgents, who expert heavy tribute for all ships they permit to sail.

The rumor that Aguinaldo had been assassinated was in circulation here for several days. It was not believed, but its currency gave it a definite form. It is said Aguinaldo dended the responsibility of the death of Gen. Luna, and said he was sorry it had occurred. The report finds no credence in Manila. A Filipino general, mounted on a big horse, with a numerous staff, has since been seen haranguing the Filipino toops around San Fernando, in Pampanga province, and this officer is supposed to be Aguinaldo.

Yesterday four guns of Hobbs battery and other artillery bombarded the Filipino blockhouse and trenches, about two miles north of San Fernando. The blockhouse, which had been used by Filipino sharpshooters to annoy the American outposts, was destroyed. The enemy made no resistence.

END NOT IN SIGHT.

Louis L. Dow Says Americans are

Vasily Outnumbered.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
VANCOUVER (B. C.,) June 27.—Louis VANCOUVER (B. C.,) June 27.—Louis L. Dow, who recently arrived in Yokohama from Menila, is quoted in late Japanese paper has expressing the conviction that the end of the war with the Filipinos is by no means yet in sight. The official representations of American losses, he thinks, are not wholly reliable, as they make no allowance for the volunteer forces he regards as the flower of the army of occupation, for their year's training has made them as efficient as any regulars in the world. Unfortunately, the more recent dispatches of reinforcements are not nearly so good as the original volunteers, who were not actuated by any prospect of higher command. The latter arrivals will require a good deal of licking into shape. The original army of occupation is not in a pleasant frame of mind. Its members are in the first place, perfectly willing to fight against any civilized power in ordinary warfare, but they object to wasting their lives and health upon "niggers," as they contemptuously call the Filipinos, and they indulge in many growls at the necessity which compels them to be on "qui vive" day and night in order not to be caught napping by their cunning enemies.

One feature of the war is that, alto be caught napping by their cunning enemies.

One-feature of the war is that, although so many natives have been killed, very few weapons have been captured. The moment a Filipino falls there are ten others ready to snatch up his rifle and make off with it. Their numerical resources are practically inexhaustible, where as the Americans can only obtain fresh men after long delays and at great expense. It is a remarkable fact that, although the American troops have often remained in the trenches in a soaking condition for days at a time, they have never caught cold.

HAVANA'S YELLOW FEVER.

HAVANA. June 27 .- There have bee HAVANA, June 27.—There have been thirteen cases of yellow fever in Havana this year. Of this number five were fatal and eight recovered. Of the deaths, one was on board a ship in the harbor, one was the case of a marine, one soldier died and two civilians were fatally stricken. At present there is no case of yellow fever existing in Havana.

NAVAL SURGEON'S VARN.

NAVAL SURGEON'S YARN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] HAVANA, June 27.—The report of se rious trouble at Neuvitas in connection with the payment of the Cuban troops, the story being that the Cubans, after receiving payment, charged the guard and recovered the arms they had surrendered, turns out to be without foundation. A naval surgeon apparently started the story in the United States Club.

SPECIAL SERVICE CRUISERS.

Navy Department Considering Fit

ting Up of Four Vessels.
[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] WASHINGTON, June 27 .- The Navy Department is considering the advisa-bility of fitting up and keeping in readiness light-draught cruisers for readiness light-draught cruisers for special service, like that recently performed by the Vixen at Bluefields The suggestion is made by advocates of the plan that such a course would save both time and expense, and that such vessels could respond to the call of a consul or perform other similar service quite as well as could a battleship; also that they would have the great advantage of being able to cover the distance to far-away ports much more speedily than would heavier ships.

hama from M fila, is quoted in late Japanese paper as expressing the conviction that the end of the war with the Filipinos is by nq means yet in sight. The official representations of American losses, he thinks, are not wholly reliable, as they make no allowance for the numbers who died in the hospital.

The number of American killed in battles or who have died in the hospital.

The number of American killed in battles or who have died in the hospitals since the outbreak of hostilities will, he think, easily reach 5000. The

CATTLE FITTINGS CHANGED.

European Steamship Agents Want

BOSTON, June 27.—Many local representatives of European steamship lines met here to discuss the new or ders issued in the United States in the matter of changes in cattle fittings on trans-Atlantic steamers. It was voted to request the department to waive the new rulings for steamers already

The new regulations set forth many changes in the present arrangements for carrying cattle. A new rule requires a three-foot alleyway between the cattle fittings and the lower hold, which would necessitate the taking away of one tier of cattle and would greatly lessen the number carried by each steamer. The regulation was originally intended to go into effect

June 15, but upon an appeal of the steamship owners the ruling was suspended until September 15, for vessels already built. The principal object of the new order is to secure greater space for each animal carried, and the rule applies to the carrying of horses.

RICE EXPORT STOPPED.

Threatened War Causes China to Issue the Edict.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS.NIGHT REPORT.] VANCOUVER, (B. C.,) June 27 Oriental advices, by the Empress of China, are to the effect that the export of rice from Wuhu has been suddenly interdicted by the viceroy of Nanking. acting under instructions from Peking n the ground that China is on the eve of war. Another reason given is that the requirements of the people within the Yang Tse region do not permt any export of grain.

Since the introduction of the trolley ar in Seoul many people have been run wer and killed. The Japanese and ver and killed. The Japanese and buropean engineers narrowly escaped eath. The ignorant people attributed the drouth, which has continued for the to the construction of the

BLOW AT UNION LABOR.

Pennsylvania Law Protecting Organized Employees is Unconstituti [A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

SCRANTON (Pa..) June 27 .- Judg Gunster has handed down an opinion in which he declares the act passed by the Legislature in 1897, which gives protection to employes who form, join. or belong to labor organizations, to be unconstitutional. The opinion is in the case of Lewis Mack, who prosecuted George W. Clark, a foreman, for a large steam fitting and plumbing house, for discharging workmen be-house, for discharging workmen because they belonged to labor unions.

Judge Gunster says:
"The act in question affords no protection whatever to the employe of the individual firm or limited partnership.
On the contrary, while the employe of a corporation, under its provision, may freely join or belong to any lawful organization, his neighbor, engaged in the same occupation or trade, when employed by an individual or firm, may be freely banished for doing the same thing."

They Want American Territory or Nothing at All.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The negotiations for a modus vivendi regulating the Alaskan boundary have fallen into a state that jeopardizes a successful outcome and causes apprehension among officials. Nothing has been heard from Ambassador Choate as to the results of the conference he had oday with Lord Salisbury on this sub-the results of the conference he had today with Lord Salisbury on this subject, but the last phase of the case was that the Canadians had come back with a counter-proposal in place of accepting the definite American proposition, which had been carefully drawn with the sole purpose of preventing any future controversy over the points already agreed upon between Ambassador Choate and Lord Salisbury.

Instead of following the lines of the American proposal, and confining the counter-proposal to a plain statement of the points already roughly indicated as marking the boundary, this last, issue proposed a radical change in the line on the Dalton trail, and was of a character wholly unacceptable to the American side, involving, as it did, the transfer into Canadian jurisdiction of the fortunes and claims of many American miners.

Unless there is a decided abatement

Unless there is a decided abatement on one side or the other of the demands the desired modus vivendi will be as unlikely of attainment as was the perunilkely of attainment as was the permanent agreement on the boundary question, and the chances for a reassembling of the Joint High Commission will fade away entirely.

MEN AND MINES.

MINING NEVER BEFORE SO ACTIVE IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Milling-Strike in the Winchester-Mojave Mines-Dewey Mine Bonded-Mining Notes.

There is more prospecting being done on the desert at the present time than during any year since the discovery of the Randsburg mines. From Mojave on the west to the Colorado River on the east, and all the way south of the Tehachani range of mountains all the chapi range of mountains all the camps are busy; some busier than others, developing prospects or taking out ode. The Ballarat region has never out ode. The Ballarat region has never looked so promising as now, the Rademacher district is substantiating its first claims to the possession of rich ore bodies; in the Rand district, of which Randsburg is the center, there is not a stamp mill idle, the Victor district. San Bernarding counts is the is not a stamp mill idle, the Victor disrict, San Bernardino county, is taking on new life, while the Vanderbilt district, in the same county, with the Searchlight, just across the river, are now showing mines as against holes a few years ago. Nor are Los Angeles, San Diego, or Riverside counties exceptions. The mining spirit pervades all things and all men, for, as was stated in an editorial published in the New York Financial News last week, "This is the age of mining."

RANDSBURG MINES. In the Yellow Aster group the Her-cules crosscut is now connected with the west drift on the Trilby on the same level, giving better ventilation and two outlets instead of one for ore. The length of the cross-cut is 700 feet from the Hercules shaft, and 400 from the Trilby winze. The Yellow Aster is milling about one hundred tons of ore a day, but the quantity will soon be increased.

The Wedge mine made a milling of ore a few days ago at the Red Dog mill which cleaned up nearly $3000.

A milling is being made on one of the Kimyon mine, which gives evidence of a yield at the rate of $300 per ton.

The Stanford mine made a milling of 125 tons of ore, which resulted in a $2800 brick.

STRIKE IN THE WINCHESTER. A strike of some rich ore in the Winchester mine, on Providence Mountain, San Bernardino county, Cal., is reported. The property is seventeen miles north of Danby, on the line of the Santa Fé-Pacific Railway, and is owned by J. R. Newberry, H. J. Woollacott, C. H. Henry and R. H. Howell, all of Los Angeles. The strike was made at a depth of forty feet in the shaft now being sunk. The indications are said to be good for the making of a valuable property out of it. The Providence range, which runs in a northeasterly and southwesterly direction, extends to the Vanderbilt district, and is known to possess some valuable gold ore ledges.

MOJAVE, CAL., MINES. hester mine, on Providence Mountain,

MOJAVE, CAL., MINES. The mines in the vicinity of Mojave, Cal., are rapidly acquiring a good reputation. The Los Angeles Mining Review publishes a letter from Mojave in which several properties are mentioned that are shipping ore to San Francisco which, after deducting the heavy expenses of freight and treatment, give very handsome returns to the owners. Among the shippers are the Karma, which is sending from four to six carloads of ore a month to the Selby Smelting and Lead Works at San Francisco; the Echo mine, also shipping to Selby's, the Elephant, Golden Courier, the Accident, and others. Then there is the Yellow Rover, which is stated to be proving itself a seven-day wonder. This mine was bonded some ten weeks afo for $10,000. There were several old shafts and inclines on it. In running a cross-cut to connect two of the old shafts a four and a half-foot veln of ore was uncovered that runs from $30 to $50 per ton, per car at Selby's, San Francisco. A 25 h. p. gasoline engine has been set up, enabling them to work three shifts of men a day and take out a carload of ore every twenty-four hours. The strike is pronounced by some to be the richest made on the desert since the Randsburg excitement, some three years ago. The mines in the vicinity of Mojave some three years ago.

THE GREAT BONANZA.

THE GREAT BONANZA.

The Spokesman-Review, Spokane, Wash., has some interesting details of the Bonanza mine, which, it says is "perhaps the most wonderful of all free-milling gold mines." The property has lately been purchased by the Standard Oil Company, $750,000 having been paid for it. It is reported that this property is now producing an average of $40,000 per month in bullion and concentrates.

NEW NON-METALLIC MINERAL. The deposits of gilsonite, asphaltum and elaterite in eastern Utah are attracting attention. These are all non-metallic minerals and the Raven Min-Golden Jubliee Hall for the triennial fest of the North American Saengerbund, which begins tomorrow and continues the rest of this week.

Among the many visiting musical societies, none attracts more attention that the Louisville Liederkranz, although many others are much larger. There will be over four thousand in the mass choir. The only society in the original fest of 1849 which will be present this week in the twenty-nint Saengerfest is the Louisville Liederkranz.

At the meeting of the bund, one of the chief features is the Commers, and that part of the festival began today and will continue over Sunday next.

BUFFALO HUMP COUNTRY.

BUFFALO HUMP COUNTRY.

A dispatch from Grangerville, Idaho, states that there is reason to believe that the Department of the Interior at Washington will shortly remove the restrictions from the Buffalo Hump country, which, under the forest reserve regulations, have restricted the progress of mining development, and which have been the cause of much inconvenience to mining men. H. H. Schwartz special agent for the Interior Department, and Superintendent Glendenning of the forest reserve, are engaged in preparing a joint report as to the advisability of opening that portion of the Bitter Roet forest reserve adjacent to the Hump to mineral development, and the belief prevails that the Interior Department vill issue an order to open it.

DEWEY MINE BONDED.

The San Diego Union states that Dennis Clark, one of the owners of the famous Republic gold mine, at Republic, Wash., has, as a result of his visit to the Grapevine district, San Diego county, bonded one of the Admiral Dewey group of mines, owned by Capt. W. R. Farnsworth and P. J. Scanlon. Mr. Clark has taken a six-months' option on the Dewey mine, the only one on which any development work has been done. Mr. Clark intends putting on a force of men to develop the property.

AN AGE OF MINING. DEWEY MINE BONDED.

AN AGE OF MINING.

The New York Financial News draws attention in an editorial to the very remarkable progress made in the development and working of gold and other mines throughout the entire world during the last two years, "Never before," it says, "has there been such general and widespread tivity in mining in all parts of the world, and for all the important minerals as at the present time. This activity is more concentrated and intense in the United States than elsewhere, but it is spreading in every region. Australia, Africa, China, the islands of the Pacific, Europe, South America, British North America, Mexico, are all in the rush as well as are we of the United States. It is an age of mining." MINING NOTES.

Stock in the Stratton Independence Company, the par value of which is £1. per share, is now quoted on the London market at £2. 10s. a share. London capitalists are in a humor to pay well for good properties, none others need apply.

The Nelson placer mine, eight miles from Baker City, Or., is leased by a Chinese firm, and is a good paying property. They have forty men and two glants at work.

A Montreal-New York syndicate, of which Sir William Van Horn of Montreal is the head, has closed an option on several mining locations in the auriferous sands of the Adirondacks.

A strike of a 10-inch lead of almost pure galena on the left fork of Red River, in Taos county, N. M., is reported.

The Black Hills Mining Review says the last shipment of bullion made from the Homestake mines, South Dakota, contained nine gold bricks each weighing about 130 pounds, having a value of about $40,000 each. The total clean-up is valued at about $350,000.

The Sonora (Cal.) Union-Democrat says that in the O'Hara claim a $3000 pecket was taken out last week. The claim is operated under a lease by A. E. and Charles Elsbree and James O'Hara, Jr., but is owned by James O'Hara, Jr. McClutcheon, J. Dennis Arnold, H. G. Stevenson and A. H. Winn. John Wiswell of Columbus, Kan., and T. B. Marshall of Kansas City, Mo., have established themselves in Los Angeles for the purpose of working the Stephens process for extracting metals from ores, the rights to which they have acquired by purchase.

Some rich strikes in the Lamphear and Esperanza mines at Mokelumne Hill, Cal., have been made.

A chunk of ore Weighing eighty pounds was taken, says the Denver Record, from the India mine at Magnolia, Boulder county, Colo., about a mile south of the Wheelmen's tunnel, last week.

When George, first of the name, sat on the throne of Great Britain and conferred on that little island the somewhat doubtful blessings of a German ruler; when the English world of fashion was going at a fast and furious pace; when it was the mode to take almost anything, the arts included, from abroad; when Hogarth had just set up his shop as a silversmith, had begun to engrave some book plates and to think of a series of illustrations to Butler's "Hudibcas;" when the English court employed painters whose endowments were modest, and when Sir Godfrey Kneller, who had just died, stood for all that was great in portraiture, the head master of a grammar school in the lit-

Mrs. Frances Scott of Massachusetts Raises a Storm at the Lon-don Council Inother Delegate Causes Excitement by Declaring the Speakers Were Too Hard on the Men.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

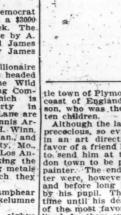

LONDON, June 27.-[By Atlantic Cable.] The International Council of which assembled yesterday Convocation Hall of Church Westminster, is divided into five sections or meetings, which were all crowded today. Great interest is taken in the political section which discussed today the "parliamentary enfranchisement of women," the vice-president of the council, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, of the United States, Miss Susan B. Anthony, one of the American delegates, detailed the progress of the movement in America.

The announcement that a paper by Mrs. Frances Scott of Massachusetts Mrs. Frances Scott of Massachusetts would be read in behalf of an American womans' society opposing female franchise, was met by a storm of hisses. Mrs. Sewall protested against this "intolerance," pointing out that no one was obliged to attend, but that it was their duty, if present, to listen courteously to all 'the speakers. The paper was then read, punctuated by ironical cheers and derisive laughter. In the professional section, Mme. Antoinette Stirling created some excitement by declaring, with much emotion, that she thought the speakers were too hard on the men, adding that women only realized, the full value of a husband when the latter was lost. In the legislative section, Mrs. Kelley read a paper on the condition of tenement labor in New York, and Mrs. Carlin described the operations of the factories and shops act in Ontario and Quebec.

PINGREE AND ALGER.

Washington dispatches announce that Gen. Alger, Secretary of War, will continue to hold his position in the Cabinet, notwithstanding the fact that he has entered into an alliance with "Potato Pingree" of Detroit, by which he (Alger) is if possible to be made i United States Senator from Michigan to succeed Senator McMillan. As is well known, Pingree is a bitter opponent of Mr. McMillan, while Mc-Millan is a firm and loyal supporter of the administration, and is a candidate for reëlection.

It is difficult to understand how, un der these circumstances, Alger can insist upon retaining his place in the Cabinet. If he carries this insistence too far, the chances are that he will be requested, in no uncertain manner. to step down and out. He would do so without further delay if he were possessed of a proper sense of delicacy or a due appreciation of the eternal fitness of things.

In his exuberance at having formed a "combine" with Pingree, Alger allowed himself to be quoted in a Washington interview, to the effect that "Pingree is for President McKinley first, last, and all the time." This has caused Pingree to impale Alger, in a statement brought out by the Alger interview, as follows:

"If Gen. Alger said that, it is his opinion from his point of view. The question whether I am for McKinley lies with the President, not with me. If Gen. Alger knows that President McKinley is opposed to territorial expansion and is not an advocate of the murder and the destruction visited upon the innocent Filipinos, he has a right to say that I am for McKinley.

If Gen. Alger is informed that Mc Kinley is opposed to trusts and legis-lation which fosters, creates and encourages them and in favor of legisla-tion to restrict and suppress them, then I am closer to the opinions of lleved.

"If Gen. Alger is assured that President McKinley is not in touch and sympathy with the disreputable politi-cal methods of Mark Hanna and his friends and deprecates such leadership, then I am for McKinley.

The question of whether I favor Kinley is of no consequence in the natorial matter, but I am for Mc-Kinley in everything he does which l consider right, and against everything he does which I consider wrong."

So far as Alger is concerned, it would appear that the time has come when he must choose between Pingree and the administration. He has clearly, reached the parting of the ways. No man can serve two masters resignation from the Cabinet ought to be a foregone conclusion.

As for Pingree, the pompous impudence of his declaration would be hard to parallel. "The murder and the destruction visited upon the innocent Filipinos" is as worthy of the Hoar-At kinson-Bryan-Aguinaldo contingent, as it is of the small-potato Governor of the Wolverine State. "The question whether I am for McKinley lies with the President, not with me," declares this shallow-pated egotist and detest able demagogue. Pingree evidently regards it as the duty of the President of the United States to come to him and implore his support, promising to be guided in conducting the affairs of the nation by the Pingree code of political morality and righteousness, which can be completely summarized in one word-Pingree. The Governor of Michigan is for Pingree, "first, last, and all the time," and he is "agin" such principles, measures, and men as do not give promise of boosting the political aspirations of cause he thinks he can see in that role the surest and shortest cut to personal aggrandizement and power.

Secretary Alger, in deciding to cast his lot with Pingree, has written himself down a demogague. Politics makes strange bedfellows, as is well known. But the combination of Pingree & Alger is one of the strangest we have witnessed for some time. It will probably be-as it certainly ought to be-the political end of both Pingree and Alger.

AN EXHIBIT OF SOCIAL ECONOMY.

Plans are now in course of preparation, by the United States Commission, for making an exhibit of social economy at the Paris Exposition of 1900. The average reader will not, at first glance, understand exactly what sort of an exhibit this will be. But it is explained that it is intended that the exhibit "shall present a comprehensive picture of our national life, showing characteristic features of the country itself, the people, and the typical industrial and social institutions." It is needless to say that if this plan be carried out, the social economy section of the United States exhibit at Paris will be an undertaking of considerable magnitude, and of very great general interest. The idea of an exposition of social conomy was conceived and executed for the first time by Frederic Le Play, at the Paris Exposition of 1867, and it was revived at the exposition of 1889. Documents sent from all parts of the world were grouped systematically in the pavilion of the Esplanade des Invalides. The Musée Social sought make permanent a collection similar to these necessarily short-lived ones. An exposition of social economy constitutes a means of useful instruction for the public. Here are displayed pictures and charts in which the his tory and results of the principal institutions of social economy are presented and summarized. From a comparative study of these works is obtained a deeper knowledge of the principles which govern social economy. The Paris society, wishing to spare the public the sometimes difficult work of synthesis, has extracted from the pictures and documents the essential principles which are inscribed on the panels above them.

France possesses, probably, the only permanent Museum of Social Economy in the world, thanks to the generosity and public spirit of the founder, Comte de Chambrun. The London School of Economics fills, to some extent, the same field for England, while the League for Social Service, which has and given a vote of thanks. Reits headquarters at New York, which sponses may be sent by wireless teleis a sort of clearinghouse in social omy, needs only adequate 'financial support to extend its services in much the same direction in this country. The latter institution is now anxiously awaiting the advent of an "angel," like Comte de Chambrun, to make possible the realization of. its hopes and aspirations.

Gen. Charles King thinks the Filipipos are capable of self-government "if given a fair start." That is just what our government is trying to do, but the dusky natives refuse to quit cutting and shooting long enough for us to give them a start; therefore there is no other course for this country to pursue than to continue the attempt to preserve the peace. When the Filipinos tire of warfare they will be given all the "chance" to govern themselves that this brave and mag nanimous nation can afford them. That is the situation in the Far East today, as it has been every day since the signing of the protocol of peace between Spain and the United States.

The first trainload of delegates t the N.E.A. Convention will reach Los Angeles today, coming from Colorado. It should scarcely be necessary to urge the public-spirited citizens of Los Angeles to turn out and give our visitors a warm reception. Don't take it for granted that there will be plenty of other, people to extend the glad hand, but turn out and do . your share, as an individual. It may also, with propriety, be intimated once more that the subscription list for the entertainment of visitors, is not yet closed.

HARK FROM THE CAVE!

The editor of our esteemed contem porary which is published in the heart of the cyclone belt, the Iowa State Register, has again emerged from his inderground windbreak (popularly termed the cyclone cellar) to offer a few remarks on the subject of the awful terrors of the California earthquake as compared with the funnelshaped twister which winds up the inhabitants of Iowa at frequent intervals during the summer months in a twist of death and destruction. This lowa cave-dweller takes issue THE TIMES because of our assertion that "The damage done by earthquakes in California since the first white man came over the pike, does not amount to as much as that caused by the least of the cyclones which have visited Iowa this summer," and goes on to quote from "Newman's America" a reference to the Invo county earthquake of 1872, in which ersons were killed or injured." Our Iowa cave-dweller, of course, does not go into details as to how many were killed in that temblor of twentyseven years ago when a lot of adobe shantles were tumbled over, nor how many of the "150 persons" merely had the bark knocked off their shins, or re-

It is a fact that there was a shake-up in Inyo county in this State some twenty-seven years ago, as before remarked, but that, which was the most serious temblor that ever visited California, amounts to nothing, either in loss of life, injury to persons or damage to property in comparison with the awful havoc-making rotary storms which go twirling their way every summer across the prairies of Iowa and its neighboring States.

In 1872 Inyo county was equipped with mud houses of the adobe variety and which, when they crumble, are likely to hurt the people who remain inside of them, but all the "buildings" destroyed by the quake referred to were not worth as much as a town hall in one of the minor cities of Iowa, and the entire loss of property at the remote time to which the State Register's cave-dweller alludes, was ridiculous in comparison with the losses sustained by cyclones in Iowa this summer and nearly every summer for the last fifteen years or such a matter.

The attempt of our mole-like friend n Iowa to compare a California temblor to an Iowa cyclone is uproariously laughable to people who have lived in both States and know the difference between a feeble tremor of the earth, say once in three or four or a dozen years, and the death-dealing tornado whose visits come along with the regularity of the seasons.

Let not our good friend of the Iowa State Register worry about California, which is doing quite well, thank you; but let him throw out some more anchors with a hope to hold the Register building on the face of the earth for at least one more summer and, by all means, let the editor aforesaid keep close to his cave, for no man knows what moment one of those murky, electrical corkscrews will drop lown out of the sky and send the city of Des Moines and all that is in it skallyhooting over the surrounding country in a grand carnival of ruin and death. Crawl to your cave, Mr. Register man, cyclone's coming if you ion't watch out!

THE HEART OF CUBA:

THROUGH THE GEM OF THE AN-

pirit of the People in the Interior Villages - Why Annexation to the United States is not More ESPERANZA (Cuba.) May 27.— Crossing the island from Sagua fa Grande to Cienfuegos, by the exceed-ingly jerky train that runs almost due south from port to port, may be rec-ommended as a sovereign dyspepsia ommended as a sovereign dyspepsia cure, akin to horseback riding: Though the pleasure of the journey is marred by the necessity of holding on one's hat and grasping the sides of the seat, while nodding like a toy mandarin to one's vis-a-vis and threat mandarin to one's vis-a-vis and threat-ening to pitch bodily into him—the ening to pitch bodily into him—the scenery, as the traveler gets glimpser of it between these acrobatic perfor-mances, is beautiful enough to fill him with "the joy of living." He sees long stretches of cane, yellow as burnished gold with the sun shining on it; to-bacco farms dotted with towering palms, and the rank and file of fields of Indian corn standing like armies ready to march. Vast, empty meadows, inclosed within low walls of piled-up stones that remind him of New England, are *covered with coarse grass upon which cattle ought to be feeding; interspersed with poorly tilled, or wholly untilled *ections, whose bright red soil and flaunting weeds attest their wonderful fertility. At rare intervals stretches of tropical jungle are passed, apparently as unreclaimed as when the first Spanlard set foot on the island. The lark spins out his interminable airette to the summer sky, the notes of quail and plover, "Phoebe," and tomeguin are waited on the soft, warm breeze: and beyond all the distant hills glimmer like a dream of the Delectable Mountains. Palm trees, characteristic of every Cuban landscape, are omnipresent, sweeping away in curved lines along the course of streams, standing in splendid groves, or ranged in double rows of smooth, gray columns whose majesty gives one the feeling of walking in a moonlit cathedral. Undoubtedly the most beautiful thing in nature is a tail and stately palm, standing alone against a background of fleecy clouds in a turquoise sky. Its plumed crest, tossed by every vagrant breeze, casts no shade—or, at best, but a tiny patch afar off in the field. The stories of travelers in tropical lands sitting under the colling shadow of palms are as absurd as those other Mayne-Reid tales of wayfarers reaching up and plucking cocoanuts with which to slake their burning thirst—a feat they might perhaps accomplish if possessed of arms twenty to thirty yards long.

As one progresses farther and farther into the heart of Cuba, the ninetenth century, with all its strife and turmoil, falls behind and is forgotten. Each straw-thatched village encountered en route—and they are very numerous—seems given over to perpetual somnia. The railway stations are not thronged with the ida an

Each thatched village has some discinguishing peculiarity. At one is made the famous jalea de guayaba (guava jelly,) which has such a sale throughout all Spanish-America. It is put up in narrow wooden boxes, can be kept indefinitely, and is as appetizing as healthful. In the hotels of Havana it is invariably served with cheese as a dinner dessert. Another town is distinguished by a great wooden crucifix, erected on the public square, with arms opened wide to sinful world. At Esperanza, "City of Hope," a tall birdhouse, close by the church, extends a hospitable invitation to all the denizens of the air. It shows the tends a hospitable invitation to all the denizens of the air. It shows the kindly and poetic nature of the people—so poor that $10 could hardly be raised among them to save a human life, yet caring for the feathered tribes less irresponsible than themselves. In several towns the public well appears to be the social center. On an elevated platform, roofed and tiled, but with sides open to the air, is a great iron wheel, which everybody turns for him or herself. Oh is a great ion where, the pencil of a Nast, a Gibson of a Cruikshank! Women come strolling across the fields bringing to the well kerosine cans converted into buckets, and boys carry poles on their shoulders, to which are slung cans, Jars, demijohns, any old thing that will hold water except a regular pail. Groups of barefooted girls coquette with their lovers while waitpall. Groups of barefooted goodputte with their lovers while wing their turns at the wheel, and draggled matrons sit on the steps pail. Groups of barefooted girls coquette with their lovers while waiting their turns at the wheel, and bedraggled matrons sit on the steps exchanging neighborly gossip, their saddle-colored babies, naked as Corregglo's St. John, rolling about in the weeds. Sleepy and unimportant as these interior villages seem, they are the real Cuba after all, and in them the public pulse may be more correctly told than in cosmopolitan Havana, where the papple have learned the wisdom of disguising their sentiments.

By the way, if anybody at home is of the opinion that the Cuban nation will ever welcome annexation to the United States, he may as well disabuse himself of the erroneous idea. Asjde from patriotic nonsense concerning the cause for which they "fit, bled and died," there are several reasons why a permanent alliance with Uncle Samuel would be about the last thing the average islander would desire. Most bitterly and universally opposed to it are the two distinct and widely different elements which together compose more than two-thirds of Cuba's population—the Spaniards and the colored people. With the former, opposition to American authority rests upon a purely business basis, fearing competition with the richer and more energetic race. While a few of the larger financial interests may favor an alliance, the commercial classes in general are strongly in favor of independence. The bodegueros, for example, a very numerous class who own the small provision stores which are located on every corner of every block in every Cuban city, dominating all the retail trade and forming a more powerful factor in politics than the saloon-keepers of the United States—are opposed to annexation to a man. As a rule, too, the Spaniards own the drug stores, the cafes and the inns, or posadas, as they are called, throughout the island. In the poorest little straw-thatched village one is always sure of a tolerable meal—rather red-peppery and garlicy, perhaps, but clean and well served in courses, with good Spanish claret, English ale, of Ap honor of his profession or the comfort of his customers, but he has learned that there is profit in keeping a good irm. Awhile ago the bodegueros were flerce in their hatred of the Cubang, and claimored loudly for annexation, but since they have seen the methods of the Americans, their abundant capital and steady persistance in business. self-interest has caused them to sing another tune. Now they have painted their store fronts the Cuban colors and digunt the Cuban flag, in order to keep the Cuban trade and accentuate their hostility to American military occupation. The order of Gen. Brooke, forbidding the bodegueros and cafe owners to sell any alcoholic liquors to American of hatred. From time out of mind they had turned many honest pennies by selling drinks to Spanish soldiers, and now that those good customers were gone, why not to the usurpers? When a few of the bodegas and posadas were closed and their owners heavily fined for breaking the law, they became intense in their hostility to American control, and the climax was capped when the finest café in Havana was shut up without legal process, because one of its waiters sold a gin fizz to a drunken drum major. It was no use to plead that the ignorant employé mistook the drum major for a majorageneral; the proprietor had no recourse until the military authorities, having made sufficient "example" of him, permitted the place to reopen. In spite of his ignorance and avarice, the Spanish préperty-owner in Cuba, being thrifty, hard-working, honest in his way and disposed to be peaceable, has in him more of the elements of good clitzenship than the average Cuban. He came from Catalonia, Asturia or the Basque provinces, or his father did—usually with no capital but strength and industry. He began as chore boy or farm hand to some bodeguero or planter, who had been a few years shead of him in Cuba, willing to work from 4 a.m. to 11 p.m. until the intevitable end wait and through he may not be able to distinguish the price mark on his own goods, and signs his name without a scrap of writing, and were always promptly settled.

The patriarchial way in which the Spanish merchant, great or small, manages his business in Cuba, is curious and smacks of mediaeval Spain. Going into any shop or store between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon, you see a table spread for breakfast in some dingy back corner, among the boxes or barrels, meals or "grocerles," with a small loaf of bread at each plate and the inevitable bottle of claret in the middle. In all cases the clerks and employes live with the shop-keeper and his family, eating at the same table and sleeping somewhere in the place of business. Many of the larger mercantile establishments of Havana have especial dormitories for their workmen. It is an economical arrangement on both sides, for though the wages are smaller, the clerk can save more who has no outside expense, and sooner arrives at the goal for which all are striving—a business of his own. The best of feeling always prevails between employer and employed, though the hours are long and the work hard; and both master and man are polite to servility to customers. But for shrewd bargaining they beat the Yankees all hollow. With the exaggerated courtesy of the Latin race and many verbose compliments they may haggle for hours oversome small difference in price, and then put off the trade to mafana, hoping the prospective buyer will return another day and yield the extra penny or two of profit which they think may be gained by holding out. The Spanish property-owners have about as much idea of self-government as a United States baby. Belleving implicitly in the monarchical institutions to which he was born, and having never Believing implicitly in the monarchical institutions to which he was born, and having never had any hand in colonial affairs, he is derisely ignorant of all the tenets of republicanism, and will need to be educated up to the rights and responsi-bilities of citizenship. bilities of citizenship.

As to the colored opponents of annexation to the United States, they are found in all ranks, social, political and military. The color line was never drawn in Cuba until the advent of Americans, for the simple reason that a tincture of African blood filters, in greater or less degree, through all classes, high and low, the kinky hair, reddish eyeballs and peculiar tint of finger tips that distinguish the descendants of Ham, cropping out in the most aristocratic families. Between the whites and real blacks exact social dants of Ham, cropping aristocratic families. Between the whites and real blacks exact social equality has not existed; but social toleration, in its widest extent, as always prevailed. As everybody knows, the insurgent army was largely made the insurgent army was largely made. ways prevalled. As everybody knows, the insurgent army was largely made up of negroes. The black officers having borne the heat and burden of the day, naturally look for recognition in the future government of the island they have helped to liberate. And just as naturally, when "Pa" is high in politics, his thick-lipped wife and daughters will expect to consort, as equals, with his political associates, though they be of the loftest "F. F. Vs." matic half-truth of H. U. Haveled that:

"The mother of all trusts is the customs tariff bill."

While they are completely at sea as to Mr. Havemeyer's ulterior motive in thus fixing the percentage of trusts they accept it as conclusive as Emperor William accepts divinity as the source of his power.

He Was a Gentleman.

[Chicago News:] Mayor Harrison's views concerning the rights of wheelmen, already broad and liberal, ought to be much widened after his experience of last night. To escape a collision with two frightened women Chicago's chief executive dove headlong against a coal wagon emashing his wheel to a coal wagon, smashing his w flinders and badly barking the sonian shin. All credit to the sonian shin. All credit to the Mayor. The average scorcher, penned in between a coal wagon and two women, would dodge the wagon, ride right over the women, give a demoniacal yell and flit away without stopping to see what had become of his victims.

It Makes All Tired.

It Makes All Tired.

[Chicago Times-Herald:] It seems to be a difficult matter to impress upon the Navy Department the fact that the people are thoroughly satisfied with the conduct of Admiral Schley at Santiago. The people care very little about the conversation that took place between Admiral Schley and Lieutenant-Commander Hodgson on the bridge of the Brooklyn during the battle of July 3. Whether the admiral said "Hard a-port." or "starboard," at that critical juncture, when the air was rull of bursting shells and Spanish ships were trying to escape, is of no concern to the public that doesn't know starboard from a meat ax.

PITH OF THE COAST PRESS.

[El Paso Herald:] The dispatches from Madrid assert that the American troops in the Philippines are in desperate straits. The information, in view of the well known propensity of the Spaniard to lie in and then lie out again at every opportunity that presents itself, is highly reassuring.

[Orange County Herald:] Havemeyer, the brain and soul of the sugar trust, charges the existence of trusts, save and except the sugar trust, to the protective tariff. He favors an advalorem tariff of 10 per cent, levied alike on everything imported. Grief fills his soul because of the tax of $40 per ton on the imported sugar.

[Santa Barbara Press:] Disarmament is inexpedient in the present state of civilization, and probably impracticable. Were the great nations to cast aside their implements of war, disband their armies and recall their navigation from the seas, as many enthusiasts thought was the Czar's purpose, progress of the races would cease.

[Oakland Enquirer:] The Republicans of San Francisco are once more in throes of trouble over the election of a candidate for Mayor. Dan Burns has been interviewed and is made to say that he is strongly in favor of Irving M. Scott as a candidate for Mayor, but why this should be done except to kill off Mr. Scott we cannot imagine.

[Tulare Register:] As an exchange

cept to kill off Mr. Scott we cannot imagine.

[Tulare Register:] As an exchange aptly states the proposition: "Either we have got to lick the Filipinos into submission to Uncle Sam's authority or they will lick our men out of the island." Is there any question which side of that issue loyal Americans will take? We think not, and we think there is as little doubt which side of that issue disloyal copperheads will take.

It is a convincing expression of confidence in the purposes of the American government, and the fact that it bears the approval of Mr. White, a radical Democrat, who almost invariably opposed the territorial policy of the administration while he was in the Senate, means that he regards the Philippine project as something altogether higher than party considerations. ALL ALONG THE LINE.

The Espee and Santa Fé are sparring for wind in the cannery fight now on at Santa Ana. The latter gives the former the "double-cross" in a double sense of crossing its tracks with a switch. If there were any fun for Santa Ana or the cannery people in this, it would be very entertaining, but the sad fact remains that so far as the roads are concerned the can-nery interests are between the devil and the deep sea, no matter how the Lompoc is in the swim with brand new railroad facilities, and a market for lime rock, for beet-sugar refineries, as a consequence. Incidentally, ranchers there have learned that land will produce four-fold if ir-ited and that a reputation for big apples is not enough to rest their claim to distinction on. With the Santa Thez River running past their doors— a perennial stream, too—the key to great things is in their hands, if they will but turn it.

In the happy diapason that blesses that musical valley, our visitors will hear oranges in high C, morality in A on added line above, deciduous fruits in twenty-type sharms and general prestwenty-two sharps, and general pros-perity in fourteen octaves of dulcet harmony. Good for Pomona! Give us the second stanza.

Not only Hueneme with her rollick-ing Fourth of July celebration is to be happy, but the whole wide expanse of Ventura county, as, the following Times correspondence shows: "Twenty young ladies from the Los Angeles Normal School will pit apricots in the Simi Valley this season." A pointer is hereby presented to the canners of that district, that if they will let his fact appear in the original packages— the fruit, not the girls—the whole crop—the fruit and the girls—will be snapped up at once.

The one and only necessary thing wanting in the otherwise perfected plans for the reception of the Naplans for the reception of the National Educational Association was the photographing of the local police force, individually and collectively; and while the type are framing this cheerful announcement, this want is being supplied. MOONLIGHT BURGLARIES.

DARKNESS NOT ESSENTIAL TO THE COMMISSION OF CRIME.

Houses Entered and Robbed Under tric Lights-Only Detectives Pre fer to Work in the Dark.

The biblical text, "Some love darkness rather than light because their deeds are evil," does not apply to the burglars and sneakthieves who are operating on an extensive scale in the city at present. There is no question as to the evil quality of their deeds, but the peculiarity of the cracksmen and house-breakers who are preying on the unsuspecting residents in the out-lying sections of the city, is that they prefer to do their work by the broad light of day, the bright glow of the full moon or the glare of the electric light. The only persons who seem to prefer darkness in the burglary matter are the police detectives, who are doing the best they can to keep the public

Northern has fisch the problem of the police detectives, who are device the they are gropling about in obscurity for the detect ried away, and almost every night for a week similar depredations have been reported.

One of the best hauls was made Monday night at the residence of Dr. A. M. F. McCollough, corner Tenth and Alvarado streets. Dr. McCollough considered his house safe from attack by burglars, as it stands on a prominent corner in the full glare of an electric street lamp which lights up the whole interior when the blinds are not too closely drawn. Nevertheless, an enterprising burglar, working under the combined rays of a 2000-candle power street lamp and the moon, just a little bast the full, turned the key in the lock of the side door with a pair of nippers, entered the house while the family slept, and ransacked it from top to bottom in search of valuables, without awakening any of the immates or attracting the attention of police or watchmen.

The burglar found what he wanted in Dr. McCollough's trousers' pockets. The bold thief entered the bedchamber where the doctor and wife slept, gathered up the doctor's clothes, carried them down stairs, and seating himself on a sofa by a parlor window calmly went through the pockets and examined the contents by the light of the moon and street lamp, which streamed through the window. None of the papers in the doctor's pocketbook were taken, but the burglar made way with nearly $100 in gold and silver coin, besides a gold watch and chain and several trinkets of nominal value.

ver coin, besides a gold watch and chain and several trinkets of nominal value.

Dr. McCollough reported his loss to the police, and Detective Auble made an examination of the premises. He found that the burglar, after picking the lock of the side door, which was found open yesterday morning, had also raised a window so as to give him an extra place of exit in case of discovery while going through the house. It was at first surmised that the burglar had entered by the window, but the dust on the sill was undisturbed, and there were no tracks on the outside, indicating that no one entered from that direction.

At some of the other places recently visited by burglars, a window, in addition to one or two doors, was found open, and from the similarity of the methods employed, it is believed that the same burglar has been getting in his work at different places. The jobs lately reported are very similar to that perpetrated by Harry Nichols, alias Gardiner, the freak burglar, who plays crazy and deaf and dumb, at the Adams residence on North Grand avenue, and which resulted in his undoing. It was surmised at the time of Gardiner's arrest that he had a pai, and the frequent recurrence of the same kind of burglaries since his incarceration leads to the suspicion that Gardiner's pail is still doing business at the eld stand.

The Frenk Burglar Was Arraigne ore Judge Smith Again Yesnished Much Amusement.

Enlogizes the Late Judge Clark. Stork Trial-Rose Procter Gets Damages.

The regular session of the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday was the liveliest that has ever been heldby that body. Chief Glass and Com-missioner Scarborough engaged in a wordy altercation in which the commissioner threatened to "turn down" the Chief, but did not explain ex-actly what he meant by that. In re-sponse the Chief defied the other, and all but dared him to proceed with his "turning down" process. The trou-ble was caused by the appearance of a committee of citizens who demanded that the illegal practices at and near Agricultural Park, now a part of the city, be stopped. The Chief also paid his compilments to the members of the committee in a manner more forcible than elegant, telling them to "kep their shirts on," and styling their appearance before the commission or such an errand as "meddling.

The manner in which the police have been ordered to enforce the sign ordinance caused another lively spat be name caused another lively spat between the Chief and Commissioner Scarborough, but the Mayor smoothed over their differences before affairs had reached a crisis. Pending the receipt of an opinion from the City Attorney, the enforcement of the sign ordinance is to be suspended.

In order that there may be no excuse for the non-enforcement of city.

dinance is to be suspended.

In order that there may be no excuse for the non-enforcement of city ordinances by the police, the Board of Police Commissioners has requested the Council to codify the city ordinances, publish those which the police are expected to enforce and supply a copy to each policeman.

For the coming special election on school bonds the city has been divided into sixteen voting districts by the combination of the regular precincts, each district containing not more than six precincts. The final ordinance calling the special election will be adopted Friday.

Henry Gardiner, the peculiar burglar, with Apollo locks of golden hair, was arraigned again in Department One yesterday morning. Gardiner still plays at his mute dodge, and hopes by queer acts and strange grimaces to make people think he is insane. Yesterday morning he made it known to the courf that he claimed to be Brigham Young.

The Los Angeles Bar Association held a special meeting yesterday to pay tribute to the worth and character of the late Judge W. H. Clark.

Miss Lonergan went out riding with her friend, Mrs. Limocks, last November and the horses ran the buggy into a ditch, injuring Miss Lonergan, according to her complaint, about $10,000 worth. Judge York has thrown the case out of court.

Eugene B. Stork is on trial in Department One, charged with forgery. Rose Procter was given a judgment by Judge Allen yesterday for $575 dam-ages against the Southern California Railway Company. Last February, a year ago, the Proctor woman started east and was put off the 'train at Pasadena on account of an alleged de-fect in her ticket.

THREATS AND DEFIANCE

LIVELIEST SESSION OF POLICE COMMISSION ON RECORD.

Commissioner Scarborough Chief Glass Clash-Agricultural Park Gambling the Cause-School Election Preparations.

The fact that coursing, gambling, at Agricultural Park in spite of the annexation of that district to the city, and that the police have made no effort to suppress violations of the law since the park came within police jurisdiction, caused the people residing near that park to appeal to the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday for protection. That such an appeal should have been made direct to the commission without reference to him caused Chief Glass to lose his temper, for he seemed to comlose his temper, for he seemed to con-sider such action a reflection upon his administration of the affairs of the police department. The result of this loss of temper was that the Chief and loss of temper was that the Chief and Commissioner Scarborough engaged in a spat, the like of which has never before been witnessed in the present Police Commission. The chief, by implication at least, denied the right of the citizens of that part of the city to appeal to the commission for police protection. He styled their action "meddling," and when Mr. Scarborough took the part of the committee of property-owners, the commission for police protection. He styled their action "meddling," and when Mr. Scarborough took the part of the committee of property-owners, the Chief turned on the commissioner and made the assertion that the commissioner had caused the appearance of the committee. Then the commissioner became angry, and when he threatened to "call the Chief down hard." if he presumed too much, the head of the department openly defied the man who voted for his election.

At another stage in the proceedings there was a clash between the two, but this the Mayor smoothed over, and the exchange of sentiments was not nearly so lively as when the tender subject of F. D. Black, coursing, gambling, etc., at Agricultural Park was mentioned.

When the session of the board began it was thought only routine business, and very little of that, was to be transacted. The first business was the granting of the application of Frank Holder for a transfer of the Coldera saloon license at Los Angeles street and the Plaza. In the matter of the bill of Dr. Brown against Patrolman Neighbors, the officer reported to the commission that since the bill was contracted the doctor had gone through insolvency proceedings and had not included his bill in his list of assets. Therefore the officer had been advised by his attorney that he could not legally pay the bill to the claimant. The matter was referred to the Chief and at the next meeting Dr. Brown will be asked to explain his side of it.

When the application of Joe Melzer for a transfer of his saloon license from No. 237 to No. 143-45 South Main street was presented, a protest against it signed by nine other saloon-keepers was filed. Melzer had secured the consent of the necessary property frontage bjection to the application men was est from the other saloon men was sased upon the fear that another saloon test from the other saloon men was based upon the fear that another saloon in that district would reduce their business. The application was granted under suspension of the rules. The application of C. Rottman for a restaurant liquor license at No. 419 South Main street was referred to the Chief to report Friday. The application of Eugene Legre for a restaurant liquor license at No. 856 Alameda street was denied. H. L. Park was granted a Druggist's liquor license at Thirty-eighth street and Wesley avenue. P. H. O'Neil applied for a restaurant liquor license at No. 5739 Central avenue, the place formerly conducted by H. Pierroni, whose license was revoked. The applicant asserted that he desired to do his part toward amusing the visiting teachers. He proposed to put in an ostrich or two at his place, and roomised to hold none of the dances which had caused Pierroni to lose his license. The application was referred to the Chief. Inasmuch as there is a standing protest against such a license there, the application will probably be denied. MERCHANTS PROTEST.

MERCHANTS PROTEST.

About three weeks ago a motion was adopted by the City Council directing the Board of Police Commissioners to inform the Council why the sign ordinance is not being enforced by the police. This motion was referred to the Chief, and he gave orders to the patrolmen to strictly enforce the ordinance. Now, there is a section of the sign ordinance which forbids the placing of canvas signs over show windows, either while the contents of such windows are being replaced with new goods, or for the purpose of keeping out the sun. At least, the Chief seems to have construed the ordinance as containing such a prohibitive clause. MERCHANTS PROTEST. as containing such a prohibitive clause and his men have been ordering the reand his men have been ordering screens, greatly to the annoyance and inconvenience of some of the merchants. The action of the police caused the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to address a rather forcible letters to the accomplision yeaterday. Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to address a rather forcible letter to the commission yesterday, in which it is asserted that the supposed violation can only be considered such by stretching a technicality. The letter also states that the framers of the sign ordinance never intended to include such teapporary shades or screens among the violations, and that to enforce such a measure was to put the merchants to needless inconvenience. Chief Glass told the commission of his orders to his men. He considered the canvas screens over windows violations of the ordinance when the name of the firm was attached to such screens. If there was no name on the screen, its use was, in his opinion, not a violation. It was on this point that the Chief and Commissioner Scarborough first locked horns, for the commissioner took issue with the Chief on his view of the law, declaring that he

to know why the commissioner had not come to him instead of going to the City Attorney, his manner in making the inquiry indicating that the act of Mr. Scarborough was not at all to his liking.

"We don'f go to you for the law," was Mr. Scarborough's reply. "We simply expect you to enforce the law." To which the Chief made no immediate reply. It was decided that the easiest way to settle the matter was to send for the City Attorney, and the Chief, was asked to summon him before the commission. As he went toward the City Attorney's office he said:

"I object to being whipped by the Council and whipped by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, and then have the commission go back on me. It's your duty to defend me. I'm the last man in the city to do anything to injure the merchants."

"We'll defend you when you are in the right," was Commissioner Parker's remark as the door closed behind the Chief. The City Attorney was engaged at the Courthouse, and at the suggestion of the Mayor, who saw that there was another outburst of feeling imminent, the consideration of the matter was postponed until Friday, when a special meeting of the commission will be held to receive the City Attorney's opinion on the sign ordinance. At that meeting the business of the year will meeting the business of the year will be closed, and the commission may con-sider the estimate of the expenses of the department for the next year.

"The Police Commissioners desire to have all existing ordinances referring to the police department published in pamphlet form, and such a request has been made your honorable body before. "We have received a communication from you asking us to enforce certain ordinances. We find great difficulty ordinances. We find great difficulty in executing your orders and giving instructions to officers through ignorance of these laws, and the problem of finding them is more difficult still. "If the Council desires the Police Department to be efficient in their duty to the city and give it good service.

Department to be efficient in their duty to the city, and give it good service, no better assistance could be given us than to have these ordinances published. Then each officer could be supplied with a copy and no excuse could then be given for not carrying out their duties as instructed. We trust that you will grant our request."

WANT POLICE PROTECTION.

A committee composed of Attorney V. M. Bowen, Thomas Lloyd and J. M. W. M. Bowen, Thomas Lloyd and J. M. Hall representing property-owners in the southern part of the Fifth Ward and those residing in the University precinct, recently annexed to the city, appeared to demand of the Police Commission that the police put a stop to the illegal practices at Agricultural Park. They presented a petition, five copies of which had been prepared, the signatures on which number 113. The petition is as follows:

"We the undersigned residents and voters of the Fifth Ward, respectfully petition your honorable body for relief in the premises and allege the following facts:

in the premises and allege the following facts:

"That one F. D. Black is now running and operating a system of pool-selling and book-making on contests between dogs and chasing rabbits, commonly known as coursing, at the Agricultural Park, within the limits, and that said pool-selling and book-making is contrary to the form, force and effect of an ordinance passed by the Council in 1895, and now in force.

"That at the same time and place Black is running and operating three gembling devices commonly known as nickel-in-the-slot machines, which pay winnings in money, contrary to an orgembling devices commonly known as nickel-in-the-slot machines, which pay winnings in money, contrary to an ordinance passed by the Council in the last few months. That such open defiance and disregard of the law is a menace to our homes and the community in which we live.

"Wherefore your petitioners pray that such action be taken in the premises as that such flagrant violators of law and order may be brought to justice and the law respected."

Attorney Bowen spoke briefly on the petition. He had hardly begun when Chief Glass asserted that the district including the park had not become a part of the city until the day before, when the Council adopted an ordinance annexing it to the Fifth Ward. In this he was in error, and Mr. Bowen promptly informed him that the district, had been a part of the city since June 12 and that there had been no stop put the gambling and after vices there. Therefore Chief informed the commission that he had been in formed that the whole business of coursing and its attendark evils at Agricultural Park was to come to an end within a few days. Those who were conducting business there had announced their intention of quitting business in a very short time. The Chief thought the easier way of stopping the acts complained of was to let the lessees of the park quit of their own accord, especially as they would do so seen, and he did not see the use of going into the courts about a matter that would so soon be at an end. To the members of the committee he recommended the exercise of patience. He closed his remarks with an expression of his displeasure that the committee should rush before the commission with their complaint, when if they had only waited a few day's there would have been no cause for complaint.

Mr. Bowen said the people looked to complaint, when if they had only waited a few day's there would have been no cause for complaint.

Mr. Bowen said the people looked to the Chief to enforce the law. He said that on a recent Sunday two officers of the Humane Society had been ejected from the park, and had been roughly handled, but nothing was done about the matter. He also said one of the copies of the petition had been torn up by a man interested at the park, before the eyes of the man who had presented it to him for signature. Comissioner Scarborough sided with the committee of citizens, saying they had a right to address the commission on the subject, if they so desired. Mr. Scarborough therefore moved that the Chief be instructed to enforce the law. At this the Chief apeared to lose his temper. He declared that there was no necessity for such a motion. He would enforce the law strictly without any such motion. He did not like this "meddling" on part of a committee. Mr. Scarborough said he did not care to insist upon his motion, as all that he desired was that the laws be properly enforced, and if the Chief did not need such instructions, he would withdraw his motion. Mayor Eaton again came to the rescue, and informed the committee that their griev-ances should receive due consideration, that the laws would be enforced, and that there would be no further trouances should receive due considera that the laws would be enforced, that there would be no further to ble about the matter. This was safactory to the committee, and the of about the matter. This was satisfactory to the committee, and the commission adjourned.

After adjournment, the Mayor and Commissioners Goss and Parker went into the Mayor's private office while the Chief. Commissioners Scarborough and Pascoe and the Fifth Ward committee lingered in the outer room. The Chief had not recovered his equanimity, and approaching Attorney Bowen, he told him that he was as good a citizen as he (Bowen) was.

"It disgusts me to have people running to the commission about every little thing. A man won't be able to take a drink or do anything else soon without some one running to the commission about it." Bowen started to make some reply, but the Chief continued: "If you people will just keep your shirts on, we'll attend to these matters."

Commissioner Scarborough again took the side of the committee of citizens, and informed the Chief that they had a perfect right to appear before the commission if they so desired, and that in his opinion they were not open to censure for so doing. This added fuel to the fire for, turning upon the commissioner, the Chief asserted that Mr. Scarborough had caused the appearance of the committee before at the commission, and that he had had a that with the commission.

talk with the committee before the meeting of the commission.

"I did no such thing," replied Commissioner Scarborough, hotly, "and whoever says that I did tells an untruth. Let me tell you, Chief, if you presume too much on me as a commissioner I'll call you down good and hard."

missioner I'll call you down good and hard."

By this time Mr. Scarborough was opening the door to leave, and as he passed into the hallway the Chief exclaimed, defiantly after him:
"You just try it. If you can call me down, do it now."

Commissioner Scarborough made no reply, and the Chief went at once into the Mayor's private office. What he said there the Mayor later said he did not remember. The Mayor did not consider the incident at all serious, and when asked about the row, declared that he did not think there had been any row. He asserted, however, that the committee of citizens had a right to make their appeal and that it should be heeded by the solice department.

Thorough Street Cleaning.

It is the intention of Street Super-intendent Drain to have the streets, especially in the business section, cleaner during the coming teachers' cleaner during the coming teachers' convention than they ever were before, if careful work by a large force of workmen will accomplish what he desires. Hand-sweeping will be resumed next Monday, and before the convention opens the force engaged in that work will be temporarily increased by adding such men as can be spared from other street work. The Council has passed the necessary requisitions for the purchase of such prooms, shovels and other tools as are required to clean the streets, and these will be supplied before the end of the week.

LIBRARY. TRUSTEES.

Some Think They Can Build in a Public Park.

At the regular meeting of the board of library trustees yesterday afternoon the opinion of the City Attorney with the opinion of the City Attorney with reference to the proposed use of a portion of the Sixth-street Park as a site for a library building was presented. He holds that the 'dedication of this ground as a park is complete and that it would be impossible for the city to erect thereon any public building. Although the members of the board, three of whom are attorneys, quite agree with the City Attorney as to the dedication of the park property for park purposes, some of them expressed the opinion that there was some question as to whether the erection of a library building thereon would be considered by the courts as a violation of the dedication of the ground. They asserted that it was an open question whether the building could not be erected there without interfering with the use of the ground as a park. No final action was taken; in fact, the request for an opinion was but a step for the information of the board discussed the part it would take in the coming convention of the National Educational Association. The library department of this association will hold its meetings in the City Council chamber. The first session is to be held Thursday afternoon, July 13. The City Clerk has called attention to the necessity for a proper registration for this election. He has already begun his work on the registers for the election and a special force of clerks will be engaged in preparing the papers for the election officers. All persons who desire to vote and who have not registered must do so at the County Clerk's office within a few days, so that their names will be included in the supplemental register sent to the City Clerk by the County Clerk.

The ballots will be so prepared that it will be possible for an elector to vote for or against either the bonds for grammar schools or the bonds for the proposed new high school.

[AT THE COURTHOUSE.] THAT QUEER BURGLAR.

HE CLAIMS TO HAVE BRIGHAM YOUNG'S BRAINS.

Old Mystery" Has a Splendid Tim Amusing Spectators in Judge Smith's Court-He Writes Notes and Studies the Ballig's Trilbys.

That very vigorous old fakir, Henry Gardiner, now claims he is Brigham Young. He was arraigned before Judge Smith again yesterday morning and was still trying to make people think he is crazy in order to dodge his eighth burglary charge. Gardiner's long loose hair wore the same excelsion aspect, and he perpetrated the same grist of gesticulations as when before the court last week. But he also in-troduced a few new specialties, and the repertoire from which he now plays is gradually becoming quite elaborate. While waiting for court to open, "Old Mystery" enjoyed himself amusing the spectators. Finally, Mr. Williams, the young attorney whom Judge Smith had appointed to defend the golden-haired culprit, handed him a piece of paper, on which was written: "How do you wish to plead?" The query was an in-spiration to the mute prisoner, and, seizing a pencil, he slowly scrawled out an astounding announcement. It read seizing a pencil, he slowly scrawled out an astounding announcement. It read thus:

"Dr. Bailey tuck my brain. Brigham Young."

At this point the court was unayoidably delayed, and the self-styled Brigham let his noble literary instinct run riot in several efforts that furnished great fun for the court loungers. He was given a pencil and plenty of paper, Detective Goodman loaned him a pair of spectacles, and the make-believe mute had a fine time flouncing off notes. These little episties were all built from the same formula, and the following is a fair type:

"Briggan Young: Dr. Hatch tuck my Brains and put Briggins Youns in its place for 88 yars the Little imps tack my Held of."

His next diversion was a dash at "feet" study, and long and well did he ponder the Trilbys of the deputy Sheriff who had him in charge. He was about to bend in adoring worship when suddenly his guardian grabbed him by the collar and landed him back into the chair.

Such dextrous jerking started a new train of thought, and the "Ancient"

By this time the court was prepared for Gardiner's arraignment, and the faking freak renewed his funny business by poking fingers at the lawyers and grinding off grimaces in the face of the court.

Mr. Williams told the court that as yet he had been unable to obtain any rational statement from his client, and suggested that a plea of not guilty be entered for him.

"I believe that the man has been in

"T believe that the man has been in State prison so many times that he is out of his head." said Mr. Williams. "Out of his element, you mean." was the sarcastic reply of Deputy District Attorney McComas.

Judge Smith continued the matter until next Monday morning, when "Old Mystery" must get in his plea.

The police are confident that they have evidence that three months ago Gardiner was a volnble talker, and that, even while in the City Jall, he often spoke with the other prisoners.

in Department One.

The forenoon yesterday was spent in maging up a jury for the trial of Eugene B. Stork, charged with forgery alleged to have grown out of a real estate deal in February, '1898. Stork is a real estate agent, and it is alleged that he persuaded Mrs. Edna Nave and A. G. Nave into trading California property near Florence for land in Missouri that turned out to be almost worthless. In a civil suit that arose between the parties to the transaction, the charge is made that Stork produced a forced contract to the trade and attempted to bind the Naves with it.

Mr. Nave was on the stand all afternoon yesterday, and the case will be resumed this morning at 9 oclock.

SPEECHES OF EULOGY.

The Local Bar Speaks Its Esteem

The Late Judge Clark.

The courtroom of Department Six was crowded to overflowing yesterday morning with members of the Los Angeles Bar Association who had gathered to take action in memoriam of the death of Hon. W. H. Clark, for severa years past one of the Superior Judges of this county. The meeting was called to order by Judge Shaw, who introduced Hon. R. H. F. Variel as chairman. A few short eulogies were delivered by those who had been most intimately associated with Judge Clark during his lifetime, and Mr. Variel, upon taking the chair spoke his appreciation of the dead jurist as follows:

"Gentlemen, members of the bar: Again, that dread summons has come which somes to all; which every man must heek and to which no man can say nay. The thought of the tomb is the skeleton of every feast. There is none so brave who willingly goes down into the grave, knowing, as he does, that he must go alone; knowing, as he does, that the must go alone; knowing, as he does, that the must go alone; knowing, as he does, that the must go alone; knowing, as he does, that the must go alone; knowing, as he does, that the must go alone; knowing, as he does, that the must go alone; knowing, as he does, that the sum man meet his loved ones who have gone before. And still today the greatest problem of life is that old problem which was propounded by Job, and to which the fleeting centuries have given no sure reply: If a man die, shall he live again? Science has sought in vain its solution. To the voce of faith alone do we look for a response. It is one upon which I have pondered much. To my own mind there is no more beautiful illustration of this truth than is found in the old Greek, when about to offer up his life as a scrifice to fate, is asked by his heloved Clemanthe, 'Shall we meet again." To her he answers, I have asked that question of the hills that look eternal, of the clear streams that, flowing, flow forever. I have asked in majesty; but all were fumb. But when I gaze upon thy living face and think upon the love that manties through its bloom, I feel that there is something which cannot wholly perish. We shall meet again, Clemanthe.'

"We have assembled here today to pay the last tribute of respect, professionally, to one who has solved that problem. That the secret of oblivion may bring to his heart the peace, the low, the happiness which his latter years did not yield him, clouded as they

Railway Company Must Pay for Invading Them.

Rose Procter was given judgment for $575 damages against the Southern California Railway Company, in Judge Allen's court yesterday, because of an unpleasantry that happened in Febru-ary of last year. The woman says that, some months previous to that time, she had purchased in Covington, Ky., a round-trip ticket to Los Angetime, she had purchased in Covington, Ky., a round-trip ticket to Los Angeles, and having spent the winter here, started in February to visit friends in Cincinnati. She boarded the morning overland at La Grande station, and all roiled along lovely enough until within a mile or so of Pasadena. Here the conductor demanded to see her ticket. She delivered it over and he at once asked her to write down her ordinary signature. She compiled, and the conductor, as she alleged in her complaint, in a most insolent and insulting way, said to her, in a very loud voice: "You bought this ticket in Los Angeles and you will have to get off this car or pay your fare."

She says that she endeavored to explain to him where the ticket had been purchased, but he would not listen, and, keeping the ticket, put her off at Pasadena. Her baggage went on to Cincinnati. She says she was unused to traveling, and fearing lest the conductor would throw her from the train before it should stop, she was thereby greatly injured in health. Besides a great loss of time and loss of baggage, her feelings were also raggedly wounded and her good name suffered to a considerable extent. She prayed for damages in the sum of $5000.

After the Simpson Church dissolved, Mrs. Hass brought an action in the courts praying that the trust she had executed be revoked. Mr. Pomeroy, however, demurred that such a judgment be rendered until he should be reimbursed with about $1100 which he had paid toward Mrs. 'Hass's support. Yesterday Judge York ordered that Mrs. Hass be given thirty days in which to pay back the $1100 and interest, at the end of which time the trust will be dissolved. If, however, she fails to reimburse Mr. Pomeroy within that time, Judge York will enter a judgment for the defendants and that they recover their costs.

some years past, the wine-makers have been paying $7.50 to $10 per ton for wine grapes. The State Loan and Trust Company controls two large vineyards, whose output amounts to about 900 tons of grapes a year, which is nearly one-sixth of the whole wine grape crop of Southern California at is nearly one-sixth of the whole wine grape crop of Southern California at this time. Henry J. Woolacott, president of the company, is a wine man and knows practically the conditions of the wine market. He concluded that grapes were being sold too cheap, and taking Cosmo Morgan, local agent for the California Wine Association, into his confidence, he proceeded to see what could be done. Mr. Morgan had no difficulty in interesting the big syndicate he represents in the matter.

An option was secured on the Old Rose wineries at Sunny Slope, and then a meeting of all the grape growers and wine-makers in Southern California was called.

Was called. This meeting was held in time Mr. Woolacott, on behalf of the California Wine Association, made a proposition to the assembled growers to pay $11.75 per ton for all wine grapes. Offered which tested 24 per cent. $11.25 was to be the price, and for grapes running below 21 per cent. sugar, $4 would be paid. An offer was made to enter into contract to pay these prices for a period of five years. This looked ominous to the local wine-makers, whose plants would thus be rendered useless, as no grapes could be had. So they came in with an ofger to pay $12 per ton for white grapes and $13 for purple varieties, with no sugar test required.

Mr. Morgan said in reference to these matters:

they offer for grapes for sweet wine purposes, and leave them any profit. But that is their affair. The question comes up whether our offer for five years was not better than that of the local wine-makers for one year. But to Mr. Woolacott, the growers are greatly indebted for taking this matter up, and securing for them such good prices for their crops."

Valentine Peyton Increases His Holdings by Purchase.

Valentine Peyton, the Illinois millionaire, who some time ago purchased a large interest in the Mount Lowe Railroad, seems to be well pleased with his investment. Among those who quietly bought the bonds of this road when they were going for a song, was A. B. Cody, Esq., of Chicago, and a friend of the Singers, whose estate holds large interests in the property. Mr. Cody seems to have put his money into the securities as a speculation, a fact which was made public in The Times when the purchases were in progress. It is now announced that Mr. Peyton has taken all the Cody interest, thus vesting the ownership in himself and the Singer estate. Mr. Peyton holds by far the largest part of the property.

Mr. Cody was vice-president of the road, and is succeeded by Arthur L. Hanes, Esq., Mr. Peyton's son-in-law. W. C. Patterson becomes a director in the road. A trust deed of $375,000 to secure the bonds was filed yesterday.

TRUE DRAMATIC ART.

MME. MODJESKA ADDRESSES THE NEWMAN CLUB.

Christianity Upon the Stage-A Healthy Revival Prophesied in Noble Bramatic Literature—The Club's Guest Honored.

the Newman Club last evening on th of Christianity upon the influence of Christianity upon the stage. The paper followed the regu-lar monthly dinner of the club, at the Westminster Hotel. A number of la-Westminster Hotel. A number of ladies and non-members were present, at the invitation of the organization, to meet the guest of honor. Letters of regret were read by the secretary, Joseph Scott, from Gen. H. G. Otts, Archbishop P. J. Riordon, Frederick R. Coudert of New York, Cardinal Gibbons, and Mgr. Martinelli, the papal delegate.

At the conclusion of the dinner John At the conclusion of the dinner John F. Francis, the president of the club, presented Mme. Modjeska with a short address. Her paper was an account of some of the episodes of classic and medleval history which show how religion has moulded the development of the drama, and a discussion of the ethical value of true dramatic art.

"The Christian spirit has exerted the same action upon the stage," said

"The Christian spirit has exerted the mame action upon the stage," said Mme. Modjeska, "as upon all other manifestations of modern life. We all know that the ancient theater had a theocratic origin. It is only a natural consequence of the essence itself of dramatic art that the theater of the Christian era had its cradle in the Christian religion.

"The Christian drama was born in the cathedrais, first in the shape of liturgic dialogues, later on in the so-called mysteries, which for a long time supplied the only popular entertain.

supplied the only popular entertain-ment for our forefathers, whose plous minds they edified by episodes from the holy scriptures and from the lives

the holy scriptures and from the lives of the saints."

Mme. Modjeska described the remarkable career of a German playwright of the tenth century. Hrosvitha, "the nun of Gandersheim," whom German critics declase marked the first steps in the evolution of the modern drama. This nun was well acquainted with the works of the Roman playwrights, which were frequently performed in the cloisters, the only 'asylums of learning and literature. Feeling astrong aversion toward their pagan morals, she resolved to write a series of plays in which the literary charm of the ancients would be subservient to Christian ideas and pictures of Christian life.

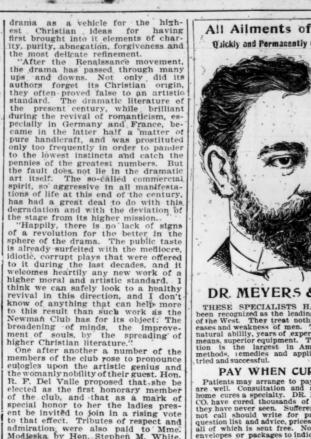

christian ideas and pictures of Christian life.

"Her works," said Mme. Modjeska,
"are of great literary and artistic merit. She was the first to break with many traditions of the old classics, such as the rule of the three unities, and to introduce into dramatic literature new elements, elements due entirely to Christianism. Her conception of love between man-and woman, so entirely different from the old pagan idea, may seem to have inspired our modern romantic poets. She stands between the ancient and modern drama lke a solitary column, the only logical and genuine transition."

After being buried for six centuries a the recesses of German convents, in the recesses of German convents, Hrosvitha's plays were printed in Nuremberg and translated into Italian, German, and Spanish.

"The supposition," said the speaker, "that she impressed the Elizabethan writers, and especially Shakespeare, is justified by the fact that, as we know, the poet took many of his plots from the Italians, who, on their part, followed in some of their works the subjects treated by Hrosvitha, among others the story of Romeo and Juliet. On the first occasion I spoke in public of Hrosvitha (before the International Woman's Congress at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893) my subject was the connection of woman with the stage. My object was to show how much the drama is indebted to woman. It is a pleasure for me, now, to again stage. My object was to show how much the drama is indebted to woman. It is a pleasure for me, now, to again glorify her name as a Christian, to proclaim how much we owe to her for having first used the Dillon, Bishop George Montgomery, Isidore B. Dockweller and Charles F. Lummis. The latter made a felicitous address, describing the attitude of mind to which one not a Catholic, the son and grandson of Methodist circuit riders, had been brought by residence among the Spanish-speaking peoples of America, the final conclusion being that "if we can't meet on creed, we can meet on the belief that we must love our fellowman and respect anything honest and true that is manly or womanly."

At the trial yesterday the defendant tried to prove right of possession. Justice Austin refused to admit such evidence, as a justice court has no jurisdiction in questions of title and possession. The defendant thereupon filed a verified answer setting up claim of right of possession, and Justice Austin suspended proceedings in the lower court and ordered the case transferred to the Superior Court.

DAVID BREMNER HENDERSON. The selection of a successor to Hon. Thomas B. Reed, as Speaker of the House of Representatives, will be one of the first duties at the next session of Congress, and it seems at present that Hon. David Bremner Henderson of Iowa has a long way the best of the chances for the position. Mr. Henderson was born in Old Deer, Scotland, in 1849. When he was six years old his parents came to this country and settled in Illinois, passing on to Iowa in 1849. Mr. Henderson's boyhood was spent on a farm, and he secured an education while battling with poverty. After graduating from the Upper Iowa University he was prepared for the law. The civil war broke out and he enlisted as a private in the Twelfth Iowa. He was commissioned a lieutenant before he reached the front, had many operations performed since, until now the leg is almost entirely gone. He reëntered the army, however, and in 1864 was made colonel of the Forty-sixth Iowa. He held numerous government positions up to the time of his election to Congress in 1881, where he has gentined ever since. He is excellently fitted for the position of Speaker, and his friends are well pleased at the manner in which the contest is narrowing down to a point where they hope his selection will be unanimous. Col. Henderson is popular on both sides of the House, another the administration of the government through the severe strain of the troublous times.

DEATH OF A. M. OZMUN. The Banker Fails to Rally from Paralytic Stroke.

The paralytic stroke which prostrated President A. M. Ozmun of the Columbia Savings Bank Sunday evening terminated last night in his death. In spite of everything that could be done for him, he failed to rally from the shock.

In spite of everything that could be done for him, he falled to rally from the shock.

Mr. Ozmun leaves one son, R. W. Ozmun, cashier of the Columbia Savings Bank. It is at his son's residence, No. 3131 Figueroa street, that he has made his home, and it was there he died. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon under Masonic auspices.

Mr. Ozmun leaves a considerable estate. He was largely interested in the Pasadena Gas Company, and in a number of banks here and in St. Paul, Minn. It was in St. Paul that he accumulated most of his fortune, as a member of the firm of Farwell, Ozmun, Kirk & Co., hardware dealers. He was a native of Ithaca, N. Y., where he was born in 1839, but he went to Minnesota in 1856, and resided there until he came to Los Angeles, leight years ago.

The paralytic stroke occurred while Mr. Ozmun was sitting in his office at the bank Sunday evening, looking the course his well.

Mr. Ozmun was sitting in his office at the bank Sunday evening, looking ing over his mail. He had spent the day at the Soldiers' Home, and on his return to the city, spoke of feeling in-disposed, but no serious results were for a moment anticipated until he sud-denly pitched forward helpless from his chair.

Another Father and Son Cured.

Los Angeles, Cal.; June 26, 1899.

I came here from Grand Rapids, Mich., a yeas ago last April. suffering from a very severe scrotum rupture. I was so bad off that I could hardly wilk. My son, J. F. Haller, having been eured by Prof. Joseph Fandrey, European Specialist in Rupture Curing, 642 So. Main St., insisted on my going with him to see the Professor to find out whathe could do for me, so we went (although I had little faith, having tried several doctors in the East without success.) The Prof. called my case a hard one to cure, for I am 64 years old, but he gave me relief at once, and I have done work such as to be done on the farm, also rode horseback.

Today I am perfectly WELL- and HAPPY and I think him the CHAMPION OF RUPTURE CURERS. He cured me without injection, operation or detention from work. Any one wishing information. call or address to 1464 San Fernando St. F. HALLER. Barber shop opposite River Station.

A letter from a well-known Los Angeles citizen who was a railroad engineer for 15 years:

Quririgo, Sonora, Mexico, June 2, 1890.

Professor Joseph Fandrey;

Dear Friend:—I just received a large bundle of papers and one letter from you that was written a long time ago, but as I am two hundred miles from a postoffice or railroad and no one to look after the mail but everyone, so you see that it is surprising that I received the mail at all. Well, Professor, I am getting along fine, doing lots of work and getting pay for what I do. It is very lonesome here without my folks, nothing but Mexicans and few of them. This is a very rough: mountainous country. I leave right away for a long prospecting trip. Don't know when I will see a white man again, but when I come out I will write you. A great deal know when I will see a white man again, but when I come out I will write you. A great deal of sickness here, but I never had better health. That Rupture you Cured me of I never have felt since you took off my truss, nor have any weakness at that point. I never think about it. It don't matter what kind of work I have to do "I am sound as a dollar." With best wishes, I remain, yours,

Prof. Joseph Fandrey, European Specialist in Rupture Curing, 642 South Main St., Los Angeles, Cal.

DR. J. De BARTH SHORB LEARNS AL

Heavily Mulcted for Letting His Angry Passions Get the Briter of His Judgment-Horse-whipped Sick Man for Making Free His Wife's Name.

Dr. J. De Barth Shorb, the stalwart son of the late J. De Barth Shorb of San Gabriel, learned yesterday the folly of letting his angry passions rise, but the lesson was an expensive one. The doctor had no somer pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace, which cost him $10, than he went right out and repeated the offense in an aggravated form, for which peace, which cost him $10, than he went right out and repeated the offense in an aggravated form, for which he was haled back into the presence of the court and dined $40 more, his attornery's fee and incidentals bringing the whole cost of his lesson up to about the round sum of $75.

The only satisfaction that Dr. Shorb derived from this generous outlay of cash was the fun of horse-whipping a poor physical wreck for alleged unwarranted use of the : name of Dr. Shorb's wife.

The victim of the horse-whipping who denied that he ever mentioned the name of Mrs. Shorb in any disrespect. Clayton ilves af No. 500 Buena Vista street, where he is a near neighbor, to the Shorbs and John Musso, a music teacher. The trouble originated from a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a complaint made to the Human Society about alleged ill-treatment of a gardy who was reliable to the short of the state of t fright and surprise that he nearly fainted away. After Shorb and Musso had soundly tongue-lashed him, they departed.

After Clayton had somewhat recovered from his fright, he hied himself to the Police Station, and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Shorb and Musso on the charge of disturbing the peace. The warrant was served on them Monday evening by Special Officer Mugnemi. Shorb and Musso were taken to the Police Station, but both were immediately released on $20 cash bail, which Shorb put up.

At 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Shorb and Musso appeared before Justice Morgan, accompanied by M. E. C. Munday, Esq., as counsel, for trial. Both pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace, and expressed willingness to be sentenced at once. The court refused to sentence them without first inquiring into the circumstances of the case. The defendants thereupon gave their version of the affair, in which they admitted going to Clayton's house and administering a top kill Clayton with his case, but they pleaded justification on account of extreme provocation. By some oversight Clayton had not been notified when the trial was to take place, so his testimony could not be immediately had. Justice Morgan accordingly adjourned further hearing until 3 o'clock, and requested Special Officer Mugnemi to produce the witness in court at that hour. Upon the postponement of the case, Shorb, Musso and Munday left the courtroom, and when they went down stairs they encountered Clayton, who had called at the Police Station to inquire for the address of the Humane Officer, When Clayton saw the men who had abused him on the previous day, he tried to avoid them, and started to leave the station. Lawyer Munday hastened back to the courtroom and informed Justice Morgan that the missing witness was down stairs, and asked that he be brought into court at once, so that the hearing of Shorb and Musso could be concluded without further delay. The court instructed Special Officer-Mugnemi to notify Clayton at once that he was wanted, Munday's client, Shorb, was cutting out a lot of fresh trouble for himself.

Dr. Shorb was standing by his buggy in front of the Police Station when he saw Clayton come out and start down First street toward Broadway. Shorb grabbed his buggy wrip and started in pursuit. When Clayton heard his footsteps, he turned around, and seeing the whip in Shorb's hand, he executed a bluff by placing his hand on his pistol pocket. Thinking that Clayton was drawing a gun, Shorb stopped so suddenly that his feet slipped out from under him, and he measured his length on the sidewalk. Clayton had no pistol, but he drew a large pocket knife and warned Shorb to keep his distance. Upon regaining his feet Shorb exclaimed: "You'd cut me, would you, you — You'd cut me, would you, you — Regaining his feet Shorb exclaimed: "You'd cut me, would you, you — You'd cut me, would you, you had no pistol, but he draw a knife on me."

Clayton put his knife in his pocket and started to run away, but Shorb rushed at him and struck him across the shoulder with the whip. Clayton stopped to defend himself, and struck Shorb with his fist, but received in return a stinging blow across the left temple with the whip. The lash laid the skin open and the blood streamed down Clayton's cheek. Clayton again got out his knife and threw it, unopened at Shorb, but it missed him. Before the fight could be continued, officer Shand rushed out of the station and grabbed Shorb, while Officer Mugnemi came bounding down stalrs and nabbed Clayton.

Both prisoners were hurrled back to court, and trial of Shorb and Musso and nabbed Clayton.

Both prisoners were hurried back to court, and trial of Shorb and Musso was then resumed. Clayton, with blood coursing down his cheek and trembling with excitement, took the witness stand and gave his version of the trouble on the previous day. There being no further testimony in this case, the court fined Shorb and Musso each $10, and their ball money was applied in payment.

Then, or complaint of the court of the court fined Shorb and Musso each $10, and their ball money was applied in payment.

and their ball money was applied in payment.

Then, on complaint of Officer Shand, Shorb and Clayton were jointly arraigned for disturbing the peace by aghting in front of the Police Station. The testimony of a number of witnesses was heard, in effect as related above, after which the court adjudged both defendants guilty, and ordered Shorb to pay a fine of $40, which he ilquistated at once. Clayton was fined $3 with the usual alternative. His attorney, Hugh J. Crawford, made an appeal for suspension of sentence, on the kround of his being penniless and imprisonment would aggravate his heart disease, Justice Morgan yielded so far as to suspend payment of the fine until Friday evening at 5 o'clock.

After the trial Clayton stated that he had not called the attention of the Humane Officer to the alleged abuse of the little girl living with the Musso family, but since he had got the blame he was going to see the matter through, and stood ready to prove that the child had been subjected to inhuman plaint made, the little gir has been returned to her parents, who are very boor and have a large family to provide for.

Attorney Munday tried to get out a complaint against Clayton for assault with a deadly weapon, on account of the knife episode, but Deputy District Attorney Chambers refused to grant it.

JEALOUSY CAUSED SUICIDE. Tragic End of a Young Austria Yesterday Morning.

Simon Menghini, a young Austrian, who has been living at No. 516 Ramirez street for the past three weeks, committed suicide yesterday morning about 8 o'clock by firing a bullet through his heart from a 45-70 Martin rifle. Menghini placed the rifle against his breast and then pressed the trigger with a stick. The bullet went through the man's heart, came out back of his shoulder and entered the wall.

The Fruit and Flower Committee, subcommittees of the Entertainment Committee, will furnish fruit and flowers at the depot. Here also members of the Reception Committee will greet the Denver teachers, and diffect them to the local headquarters.

At the meeting of the Executive Committee last evening, Chairman Rule of the Entertainment Committee reported he was confident that the Chinese entertainment would be one of the features of the comming entertainment programme. It has been a hard task to secure the consent of the Chinese artists, now playing at San Francisco, to cancel their engagement there and accept the offer of the committee. The matter has stirred up considerable interest among the local Chinese merchants, who are using their united efforts to help bring this attraction.

The educational exhibit is almost ready to be put in place, and the school-book and appliance exhibit will soon be opened.

Letters received today state that Dr. Irwin Shepard, secretary of the National Committee, will arrive July 1. Other members of the Executive Committee will follow shortly, arriving here between the 1st and 8th.

STAR AND CRESCENT.

SENIOR D STUDENTS ACT "THE ROSE AND THE RING."

in Original Dramatication of Thack-Large Audience-Gold Pins Presented to the Members of the Graduating Class.

A delicrously funny dramatization of Thackeray's mock, heroic, "The Rose and the Ring," was presented by the senior B class of the High School yes-terday afternoon at the annual meet-ng of the Star and Crescent in the High ing of the Star and Crescent in the High School auditorium.

The play was a fantastic whirl of usurping monarchs, lovely persecuted damsels, magic tallsmans, and fairy godmothers, living strange adventures in the realm of Paflagonia, where royal highnesses wear their crown to breakfast and kings never speak anything less dignified than blank verse, except when in the bosom of their families.

The plot revolved taround a magic ring and a magic rose, the possessor of either of which was instantly universally beloved. The changes of ownership of the tallsmans resulted in wildly-hilarious confusion of love affairs which were only straightened out by the intervention of the Fairy Blackstick. The breakfast scenes in the palace of Valoroso, when the crowned and sceptered king, neatly attired in a dressing gown, and the queen, and the Princess Angelica, with their mair in curl papers, regaled themselves on real eggs and sausages, was inlimitable burlesque, and the scene when three royal highnesses in a row declared their passion for the lovely lady's maid Angelica set the audience shricking with laughter. The final unravelling of the plot was effected with great cleverness and unexpectedness.

The final unravelling of the plot was effected with great cleverness and unexpectedness.

Moye Stevens was most impressive as King Valoroso, usuarping monarch of Panagonia, and the sedateness with which he discussed simultaneously his breakfast and the advisability of stopping his intended son-in-law's execution was a lesson in royal dignity. Robert Hoedel, as Giglio, rightful heir to the throne of Panagonia, made love beautifully to a succession of possessors of the magic ring. The blubbering of Bulbo, Crown Prince of Crim Tartary, played by Olin Wellborn, on every possible occasion, was very affecting and his acting throughout the play excellent. Howard Wayne was the loyal solder, Executioner Hefzoff. Everett Adams did exceedingly well the small part of Tomaso Lorenzo, painter-in-ordinary to the court of Crim Tartary. As Jenkins Gruffanuff, porter to the court of Panagonia, Clarke Miller had not even one word to say, but nevertheless he played an important part in the fortunes of the hero. Frank Cardwell and Walter Rees, as Smith and Jones, respectively, Giglio's fellow-students at the university, were a jolly pair, and when transformed into the Prince's addes and courtiers, they were as much at ease as when lounging in his college quarters.

Minnie Allen was clever as Valoroso's when transformed into the standard aides and courtiers, they were as much at ease as when lounging in his college quarters.

Minnie Allen was clever as Valoroso's Queen, "Mrs. V.," the King called her. Lucy Ward was the Princess Angelica, and her transformation scene, when upon the loss of the magic ring her beauty departed and she turned into a crooked, squinting oripple was exceptionally well done. Clara Walton was charming as Betsinda Angelica's maid, and really did not need the magic ring at all. Adele Sentous was the scheming Countess Gruffanuff, and as pretty as when possessed of the ring of bizarre, when she grew a mammoth nose and relapsed into intriguing old age. Belle Whitaker and Patty Davisson made pretty pictures as the waiting maids. Phila Johnson was a most pleasing figure whenever she appeared upon the scene as the good fairy Blackstick, and the informal case with which she chatted off the prologue, a cleverly-written introduction to the play was characterized by rapid action, effervescent humor, and a keen sense of the dramatic possibilities of Thackeray's extravaganza. The work was done by Margaret Henderson and Phila Johnson. assisted by Ethel Mosgrove, Olin Wellborn and Moye Stephens.

The presentation of the play was preceded by a call to order by President Harry Walton, the reading of minutes by Helen L. Day, and music by the High School Orchestra, which also played between the acts. After the play was over President Moye Stephens of the winter class of 1900 addressed the graduates and presented to each on behalf of the school a gold star and crescent pin, badge of membership in the Alumni Association. Earle C. Anthony responded as president of the summer class of '99. The exercises ended with the class song, the words written by Clara Walton and Margaret Henderson, the music by Rockie Quinn, and sung by all the senior Bs. The verses were clever, the hits on the members of the graduating class entertaining, and the singing excellent.

Small Fires Yesterday.

A fire in the drug store of Dr. L. L. Doty, at the corner of Main and Elmyra streets, at 10:30 o'clock yesterday forencon, caused damage to the extent of $50. Dr. Doty was preparing ointment over a gasoline stove. The grease boiled over and the stove exploded.

At 1:20 o'clock in the afternoon an alarm was turned in for a fire in the residence of George Buck, at No. 519
West Seventh street. A gasoline stove, which exploded, was also the cause of this fire. The living-room, kitchen, dining-room and tear bedrooms were burned out, and the damage is estimated at about $300.

MORTAR ONCE USED

Cannot Bind Brick and Stone a Second Time.

In a recent article by Dr. David H. Reeder, Professor of Hygiene and Dietetics of the College of Medicine and Surgery, Chicago, he states: "A chemist may steep lime shell in a quantity of pure water so that a portion of the lime will be dissolved in the water. Let will be dissolved in the water. Let this water be taken into the stomach of the person to whom we desire to supply bone material. Will this lime now undergo a change such as will convert it into bone? No more than will mortar."

This is a good illustration of the reason for the failure to obtain results in rebuilding the body by administering certain minerals from the drug shop.

in rebuilding the body by administering certain minerals from the drug shop. Once the principles have been made into lime, potash, etc., they cannot be re-arranged into the human economy readily, but these elements or minerals are needed in very delicate particles for the rebuilding of certain structure in the human body. We should obtain them from the grains, for in that way Nature presents them with the molethem from the grains, for in that way Nature presents them with the molecules so delicately divided that the human system takes them up.

This is true of Grape-Nuts, the famous food, made with the special intent of rebuilding the brain, solar plexus and nerve centers of the human body, by offering the phosphate of potash in a natural way, which combines with albumen and doss the work intended.

Grape-Nuts are delicious to the taste, made up in the form of small granules glistening with grape sugar, and form an ideal breakfast dish. Sold by all grocers at 15 cents per package.

ORIENTAL MEDICINE,"

In two parts, Treatises Nos. 4 and 5; in all 255 pages, illustrated. Contains the substance of all previous publications by this company, and much that is new. Describes the new method for home use of the celebrated Oriental Herbal Remedies, with full directions. More than a hundred purely vegetable medicines adapted to the cure of all diseases, whether acute or chronic. Valuable chapters on diet and hygiene.

This volume shows how every man may be his own physician and may save sickness and doctors' bills by the use of preventive remedies. The long list described in this book includes many simple, harmless but very efficacious remedies, the use of which at the first symptom of disease will save many a painful, perhaps fatal, liliness.

This is a new departure of the Foo and Wing Herb Company. It is employing their skill and knowledge in a new way for the benefit of the world. The descriptive volume contains many new and striking theories of diseases and their cure. The remedies, which are skillfully and taxily prepared, in permanent forms, are a complete series for home cure of all ordinary diseases. The book and the remedies go together.

This valuable publication given free to all who call or write the Foo and Wing Herb Company, 903 South Olive Street, Los Angeles.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES Los Angeles, June 27, 1899.

NEW BANKING FEATURE. We are privileged to make an interesting important announcement this asys the American Banker, namely, that a company called the Bankers' Money Order Association has been organized and will be in operation in a very short time. This stitution will be under the direct care of representative bankers from all parts of the United States. The plan of operation will be fully elucidated later on. The object is, occurse, to divert the money-order bush course, to divert the money-order business from the express companies to the banks, where this business properly belongs. The company will be fully equipped for the accomplishment of that object. For the present we desire only to add that Mr. Goodall, whose name has been conspicuously identified for a number of years with the money-order controversy between the banks and express companies, is connected with the new company.

THE KIND OF TEA THEY WANT. An English firm, dealers in Ceylon teas, proposes to invade this country with their goods. Here is what is pro

Heretofore, all teas used in this country have been imported from London, which is the great tea market of the world. Teas have been prepared with reference to the demand of the London market, and the conditions in America have not been studied. It might be possible for a tea buyer to make a suitable selection in London, but he might as well make it in New York or Boston, and thus save expenses.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

COURTS FORM TRUSTS, Recently the Kentucky Court of Appeals handed down its first decision affecting the anti-trust law passed by the last Legislature of that State. The court's islature of that State. The court's decision reverses the judgments secured against seventy-seven insurance companies doing business in the State. Each of these companies was fined $20,000 under the provisions of the law, their alleged offense being conspiracy in fixing their insurance rates. As a result of the decision of the Court of Appeals these fines cannot be collected.

A NEW INDUSTRY. An Oshkosh, Wis., report says it is officially announced that the American Grass Twine Company, which has been incorporated with a capital stock of $15,000,000, will absorb the Northwestern Grass Twine Company, which is capitalized at $7,500,000. The foregoing notice chronicles the birth of a practically new industry, says Bradstreets, one which makes possible the utilization of material heretofore considered useless. It is said that the product, NEW INDUSTRY. An Oshkosh, uon or material heretofore considered useless. It is said that the product, which is made from the peculiarly strong wire grass of the marsh and slough lands of Wisconsin, Minnesota and other western States, is useful for the binding of grain and the other uses to which twine made of sisal hemp is put.

EMPLOYMENT, LABOR, STRIKES. inquiry of the Bureau of Labor Statistics that they had advanced wages since January 1; fourteen others reported an increase of working force, while only three reported a decilining or stationary business. The industries most favorably situated were iron and steel (including foundries and agricultural implement and stove factories,) cotton goods, clothing (including boots and shoes, collars and cuffs and straw hats.) canned goods, cigars and lumber. The complete returns collected from the trades unions of the State enable the bureau to make comparisons concerning the state of employment in the first three months of 1899 and the corresponding periods of 1898. This year 1166 unions report 173,516 members, of whom 7281 are women. The number of unemployed on March 31 last was 313,613, or 7244 less than on March 31, 1898, while the number of unemployed during the entire quarter this year was 22,659, or 4557 more than during the corresponding quarter last year. Commenting upon this table the commissioner says: "The striking facts of this table are the large numbers of unemployed in each of the periods covered. The economic situation of trades unionists is popularly supposed to be more secure than that of the average workingman, and yet 44,000 out of 143,000 trades unionists were reported in idleness on March 31, 1897, while 25,000 had been unemployed for the entire three months between January 1 and March 31, 1897, being almost exactly one-fourth of the total membership. These large percentages of idleness pertain to the winter season, and do not hold good for the whole year. Since 1897, the conditions of employment have improved. The percentage of the total membership idle on the last day of the first quarter of 1897 was 30.6; 1898, 21.0; 1899, 18.2.

As far as the general field of labor is concerned the situation is one of unabated strength, says Bradstreet's, but still not of continued comparative quietness, such as has existed for some time back. Favorable features are found in the iron and steel trade, wherein m strike has, so far, rendered more than 15,000 men idle, and the outlook in connection therewith so that upward of 30,000 men will be adversely affected by it unless a speedy solution of the matter in issue is made. Then, again, certain railroads are sure to incur loss in earnings through its instrumentality, so that, on the whole, this strike may be considered as the most serious now on the tapis. Other strikes of significance, as far as numbers are concerned, are to be met with in the casess of 60,000 miners in the Chicago-Alton district, Buffalo freight-handlers, the street-car employés at Cleveland, which latter has proved to be a very boisterous outbreak on the part of the employés. On the other hand, many other strikes have been settled.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

LOS ANGELES MARKETS.

LOS ANGELES, June 27, 1899.

For spot poultry the demand is light, and with a good many offering prices are fixt better than steady. For next week there is a good demand, one hotel having left an order with one house for fifty dozen good chickens for early next week. The eastern teachers will begin to get here next Friday and by July 11 there will be 15,000 strangers here. Fourth of July comes next Tuesday, and the hotels and restaurants will buy freely for that day.

Eggs are firm at quotations

Esgs are firm at quotations current for a week. The regular market for ranch is 18½ cents, a few selling at 19, and some reported at 18. These last, may be California eggs laid in Kansas.

Butter is steady at previous prices.
Cheese is rather easy under the influence of very low prices in San Francisco.
Potatoes are very firm, and seemingly not likely to weaken for some time.
Beans are slow, but pinks may possibly advance. Prices are withdrawn in the San Francisco market reports, indicating a bare market. They could not be laid down here at $2.15, yet they are jobbling at $2.25.

London market, and the conditions in America have not been studied. It might be possible for a tea buyer to make a suitable selection in London, but he might as well make it in New York or Boston, and thus save expenses.

The tea business in America is now su clently large for a Ceylon firm to establish a branch. While Ceylon tea is comparatively unknown here, it is the finest in the world. The imports of all kinds of teas into this country have increased from 4,000,000 pounds to 12,500,000 pounds in five years.

This is, however, not a tea-drinking nation. Only the Anglo-Saxons here drink tea, the other nationalities adhering to coffee. Over eight pounds of teas are consumed per head per year in America.

We shall prepare tea for direct importation into this country. In the greater portion of the United States the people want a light tea. The highest price for tea is paid by the poor peasantry in the north of Ireland, who drink the best tea produced. The continent of America can be divided by lines, marking off areas in which the people drink certain kinds of teas, owing to the people drink certain kinds of teas, best adapted to each section of the World's Fair in Chicago. There was a great display of tea there, and the result has been that the door has been opened.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The activity of the buying of railroad stocks showed some failing-off in the course of the day, after a notably active opening, and early buying movements. But the demands sprung up again in the last half-holy lof the trading in full force, carrying prices of the railroads to the highest of the day. New York Central was again the center of interest in the market, and it was a final spurt of 1½ points in that stock that gave the market its strong close. The last sale of Central was at 160%, the highest of the day and 2½ above last night's close. The last suppared to the stock was on a very large scale, blocks of a thousand shares and upwards showing quite frequently on the tape. Manhattan was also rushed up in the final dealings to 1.15% on the announcement of the closing of contractal looking to the change to electric motive power. The buil leaders were evidently in a concerted effort to make final prices of the day the highest. The separation of the trading in the railroads and industrial stocks was not quite so sharp as yesterday. Federal Steel was conspicuous at the opening for an advance of 1% on the dismissal of the division of the common stock. Denials for dealer was conspicuous at the opening for an advance of 1% on the dismissal of the division defined on the common stock. CHICAGO, June 27.—The action of wheat at the opening and for a short time after was anything but encouraging to the builts.

There was the same old story of weak Enlish and continental markets, and the same reports of heavy receipts at primary.

the first ray of encouragement to the bulls. Buying against puts stopped the decline, and moderate covering the decline. the first ray of encouragement to the bulls, and moderate covering by shorts resulted in a gradual advance to 73%. Before noon buying was increased by advances from the Northwest that receipts at the two big receiving points will probably show a material falling-off next week. Too much rain was reported in the West and Northwest. September advanced steadily to 74%, and was bringing 74% at the clone. The market for corn was quiet, but firm, mainly on yesterday's large cash business. September gained 4.6%. Oats were duil, but steady. There was a good demand from the country and from shorts. September closed 4, higher. Provisions were firm, largely on the heavy shipping business, and prices ruled a trifle higher. Possibilities of a spread of the stockyards strike was a buil factor. FIFTEEN DOLLAR MYSTERY OF A DARK BLUE COW.

Sale of Bad Beef, by Justice Merrinm-Annual High Jinks of High

PASADENA. June 27.—[Regular Correspondence.] A smal mess of milk came from the cow case in Justice Merriam's court today. This was the case in which "John Doe," whoever he might be, was accused of having sold diseased meat. "The cow was established; it was proven that she had a sore jaw; but whether the lump was due to barley beards or sore throat or tubercles, was not clearly demonstrated: There was an abundance of testimony showing that the cow is no more, but little to prove that she went to market. The form of complaint was novel for this section, the assertion being simply that a crime had been perpetrated, without naming any perpetrator. The proceedings were somewhat like a coroner's inquest and just about as illuminating.

without naming any perpetrator. The proquest and just about as illuminating.

W. H. Cady testified that he owned a "bluish dark cow," that had a lump under her throat, of the size of his fist. June 8th he delivered the cow to J. N. Vail, giving him $1.50 toward funeral expenses, Vail to the stand and confirmed this testimony. Mr.

Vail also testified, saying he received the cow from Cady, opened the lump on the throat and took out some barley beards.
The cow was lively and a good kicker, and he sold her to Mestler & Key.
P ul Mestler testified that he gave Vail kiljed her. The day before they had killed six cattle. The meat of this cow was carried to Mr. Hildebrand of Alhambra to be used for chicken feed. The hide was sold to a soap factory. Mr. Hildebrand took the Reported Purchase of a Large Ranch by the Sugar People.

OXNARD, June 27.—[Regular Correspondence.] Henry T. Oxnard, president of the American Beet Sugar Company, is here for the week, and since his arrival the rumor has gained circulation that he has bought the great Patterson ranch of over five thousand acres, at a purchase price of upward of $600,000. The factory people will neither affirm nor deny the rumor. The deal will be the largest single purchase consummated in this section in many fluence and is at the most fortile in the Santa Clara Valley. The property is at present owned by Patterson, an aged capitalist, at present-residing in Nork. The ranch is used largely for general farming and feeding, and about one thousand acres is leased to small farmers forcest clicure.

With this purchase the Oxnards will own over twelve thousand acres in this valley, which is almost sufficient to raise bests enough to supply the factory at its full capacity in any one year. It is not the intention nor the present practice of the factory people to plant their own crop, but the purchase is simply made as a matter of protection to their capital invested here. The acreage will be leased to small holders, who will cultivate the lands. In order to provide against exhaustion of the seil, only a certain part of a holding will be set to bests each year, and the choice of seed and methods of cultivation will, to a certain extent, be under the direction of the agricultural department of the factory. This will insure the best results possible from the land to both the farmer and the factory people.

HOW TO WEIGH ROCK.

The government engineers on the breakwater have a device for measuring weights of barge loads of rock, even in a somewhat rough sea. The harges now operating were towed into the inner harbor several weeks ago, one of them being loaded and the other empty. The water line of each was marked and the rock from the loaded one was weighed, a little at a time, and transferred to the other barge. That operation was continued until the whole load of rock had been moved from one barge to the other. The water lines of each of the barges were marked at all of the respective degrees of submersion. With those marks the weight of rock on a barge may be determined if the barge is in still water like that of the inner harbor so that the water line will remain steady. But in the billowy water outside the ascertainment of the water line is a more difficult matter and necessitates the use of special instruments. The device which will probably be used on the breakwater work here is a tubular affair. The brackets may be readily fastened to repeat the land the process of two adjustable brackets. The brackets may be readily fastened to T slots, the latter being sunk into the side of the barge so as not to be knocked out of place or broken by colliding objects. The tube, which is the most essential feature of the device, reaches below the water line and has in its lower end a very small aperture. The water may pass in or out through that aperture, but very slowly. The result is that when the motion of the sea causes the barge to rock so that the side of the device, reaches below the water line and has in its lower end a very small aperture. The water may pass in or out through that aperture, but very slowly. The result is that when the motion of the sea causes the barge to rock so that the side of the device, reaches below the mean that determines to within about a ton the quantity of rock on the barge. ALLEGED ROBBERY.

A peculiar robbery case is to come before Justice Downing* for preliminary examination Wednesday. The accused persons are Champ L. and Milton M. Saxton, who are made joint defendants. The complainant is William Quinn, driver for Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express. According ac Quinn's allegation he delivered a package to the Saxtons' home on West street, near Eighteenth street, two weeks ago last Saturday. There was 45 cents due, which he collected. Quinn delivered another package at the same house last Saturday. When he entered the house he says the two Saxtons attacked him and, after inflicting bodily violence, compelled him to give up 45 cents, they asserting that he had wrongfully collected that sum when he made the former visit. The defendants remain to be heard from and will have an opportunity to tell their version of the affair in court.

SAN PEDRO BREVITIES. The Day's Fishing-New Steamer Schedule—The Fourth.

AVALON, June 27.—[Régular Correspondence.] Vesterday was another great day in fishing circles. All kinds of fish were plentiful, big mackerel predominating, and the langlers were wild with excitement. The mackerel is a very game fish, and as it seizes the bait darts off near the surface of the water, making a very spectacular play. Toward noon some forty or fifty boats were engaged in the sport, and everybody was catching all he cared to handle. The premium catch made by one boat was 750 in an hour and a half, two men fishing. It is a safe estimate to say that up to 1 o'clock, when the fish drifted out toward deep water, 2500 pounds were taken.

The tuna were also biting well and two were captured, Commodore R. W. Burnham taking his first, which welghed 108 pounds, admitting him to membership in the Tuna Club. The other tuna was taken by Frank V. Rider, and he now holds the record so far this season. His fish welghed 130 pounds. It made a great fight, and two hours and forty minutes were consumed in conquering it.

The Fourth will be duly celebrated at Avalon by boat races and other races, a tug-of-war on the water and other exercises. There will be an excursion on the Hermosa to the government quarry at the isthmus, and a general illumination in the evening, and an illuminated regatta with fireworks.

The summer schedule for the boats will go into effect on July 5, after which there will be two boats and one-half hours on the island, and on other days two and a half hours. On Saturday, July 1, there will be two boats, and on Sunday, the 26, one boat, allowing five and a half hours on the island. There will also be two boats on Monday, July 3.

Improvement-bond Idea — Government Engineers' Operations.

SAN PEDRO, June 27.—[Regular Correspondence.] Zest has been imparted to the improvement-bond idea by the probability of the extension of the city limits two blocks westward. The ordinance calling the election for that proposed annexation is to come before the City Trustees for adoption this evening. Advocates of the scheme to issue bonds of the city for the procurement of certain public improvements are urging that the town should at least have a new city half of its own, and that the practicability of building a public pleasure wharf reaching into the outer harbor should be carefully considered. The cases of other towns, including Long Beach, are cited as examples. It is pointed out that the people of Long Beach are of the opinion that the recent work done under improvement-bond issues there has had a very strong influence in inducing private improvements, which have been made to a value several times exceeding the cost of those executed by the city. The City Hall which Long Beach is building, together with its site, are to come under a $9000 bond issue. The site cost $2000. This city has a site which is considered a suitable one, so the cost would cover only the building, or say $7000. If forty-year 5-per-cent, bonds were issued for that amount, the first year's installment of interest and principal would amount to $255 and each succeeding year's payment would be-less than the preceding one. If a $15,000 wharf were to be built under a forty-year 5-per-cent, bonds were issued for that amount, the first year's installment of interest and principal would amount to $255 and each succeeding year's payment would amount to $1125 and the payments would diminish year by year. Other bond improvements are under constraints and principal would amount to the outer harbor and have it under city control, it is urged that it would prove a valuable attraction for summer visitors, to which class of people this town has not bither to catered to any considera will also be good horse racing and firework include sack races, an Indian dance and ex-hibitions of horseback riding by vaqueres.

been chartered for use here. It will be very useful to the engineers, who will need it in running to and from the breakwater site, where there will be much work for them to do, and for other service.

Six barge loads of rock have been dumped on the breakwater site, aggregating not far from 5000 tons. General Superintendent Wyckoff said today that in the preliminary operations now going on at the Catalina Island quarry about two tons of debris have to be cleared away and dumped into the neighboring deep water in order to get out one ton of rock fit to put into the seawall. The debris has been accumulating for many years, as various quarrying operations have been conducted there, and there is a big lot of it that will have to be cleared away before the removal of breakwater rock can go on uninterruptedly.

SAN DIEGO, June 27. — [Regular Correspondence.] Plans for the fiesta at Tia Juana July 17 to 20 are rapidly nearing completion. The programme as at present mapped out is as follows: On the first day the town authorities, accompanied by the Junta Directiva and a band, will meet the train from San Diego and formally welcome the visitors, who will be escorted to the pavilion, where an address will be delivered and the band will give a concert. After these ceremonies a procession will be formed and the Plaza de Toros will be visited, where the vaqueros will give exhibitions of riding and their skill with the riata. On the second day there will be a rabbit chase by Indians on the mesa. There will also be good horse racing and fireworks.

of biology, who is now working in South America, was extended to September I. FOR FRANCHISE EXTENSION.

The City Council will probably be asked at its next meeting to grant an extension of the franchise given a year or two ago to U. S. Grant, Jr., W. N. King, Judge M. A. Luce and sevral other San Diegans, for a raliroad along India street and the water front, which franchise expires this week. When the franchise was obtained it was the intention that San Diego should be the terminus of a raliroad running across the desert to Yuma, and with a branch line southward to the sulphurmines in Lower Californis, which are owned by some Pittsburgh capitalists. In fact, it was at the instigation of these capitalists that the franchise was obtained, and active work was only stopped by the outbreak of war between the United States and Spain, whereby sulphur was declared a contraband of war. Lately correspondence between these mine-owners and the gentlemen owning the franchise has been reopened, and the indications are that work on the raliroad enterprise will be undertaken before long.

SAN DIEGO BREVITIES.

Ground was broken yesterday for the erection of a two-story brick block on Fith street near K. The building will be put up by B. R. Arnold, and adjoining the building owned by him at the corner of Fifth and K streets. Upon the completion of this building Mr. Arnold will build a larger block at the southeast corner of Fifth and J streets. The two buildings will cost about $75,000, and will be completed in the early fall.

Considerable anxiety is beginning to be felt as to the safety of the British ship Bermuda, which is out eighty-seven days from Newcastle, Australia, for this port. She has on board 4000 tons of coal for Spreekels Bros. This makes one of the longest voyages on record between these two ports.

Coast Line Right-of-way Nearly Complete—Suit for Damages.

SANTA BARBARA, June 27.—[Regular Correspondence.] Ellwood Cooper of the Citzens' Committee of this county on right-of-way said this morning that with the exception of a very few miles of territory the right-of-way along the gap line was practically secured. The Hollister estate still holds to its original demands, but it is thought that a speedy settlement can be made as soon as Mrs. W. Hollister returns from Honolulu. Rowland Hazard has not yet been communicated with. He is in New York and is expected here in a few days. He owns property through which a mile of the road will pass. The other matter of the straightening of the line between Santa Barbara and Ellwood is at a standstill. Property-owners are asking high prices for rights-of-way and the company is holding off until these demands are modified.

SHOCKED BY A BUZZER. George W. Russell, a real-estate dealer, has brought suit in the Superior Court against the Sunset Telephone Company asking $6000 damages for injuries alleged to have been received through neglect on the part of the telephone employés. He alleges that a buzzer on the line gave him a shock that he thinks injured him to the amount sued for. The unembers of the Young People's Christian Temperance Union held a meeting last evening in the First Presbyterian Church and more closely perfected their organization. They expect to begin an active campaign against the saloons, and have called a county convention of anti-saloon people to meet here on July 11.

Fight Over a Child—Church Mortgage Burned.

RIVERSIDE, June 27.— [Regular Correspondence.] Some time ago J. L. Andrews was granted a divorce from Susie E. Andrews in San Bernardino. The custody of a five-year-old daughter was awarded to the father, the Judge stipulating, however, that the mother should be permitted to see the child at certain times. Some weeks ago she visited San Bernardino and took the child out for a drive, and was arrested for attempted abduction. Mrs. Andrews now invokes the law to define her position and give her an opportunity to see her child occasionally.

RED BANANAS AGAIN.

After an Absence of Eight Years
They are Put on Sale.

[Chicago Inter-Ocean:] Hundreds of people stopped to examine a bunch of red bananas which hung in front of a Madison-street fruit store yesterday. From the bunch of tempting fruit hung a placard, stating that they were the first red bananas to be brought into Chicago in eight years, and that they were imported from Porto Rico.

Many people recognized the bananas as long-lost friends, and remembered the time when the fruit could be bought anywhere in the city for 5 cents a dozen. After an Absence of Eight Years a dozen.

"We tried four months to get red we thed four months to get red bananas before we got these," said the manager of the store. "We finally secured them from a New York firm. Ten years ago, red bananas became a drug on the market. So many of them were shipped from the West Indies that they were sold for 5 cents a dozen in Chicago, and then dealers could not get rid of them. So no more were imported, and for the last eight years there have been none in the Chicago market.

"The red bananas are really better than the yellow ones. They have a finer flavor. I have four bunches of them, and if the people appreciate them, I will arrange to keep them in stock."

A member of a South Water-street

stock."

A member of a South Water-street firm which deals extensively in bananas differed with the Madison-street dealer in regard to the quality of the dealer in regard to the quality of the red banahas.

"They are inferior to the yellow ones in flavor," he said, "and were driven from the market partly because the war in Cuba interferred with their shipment. I have not seen any of them in the market for the last eight years, and I do not think Chicago dealers can ever be induced to handle them again. They are too hard to dispose of."

New Orleans is the distributing point

TEACHERS FOR COMING YEAR IN FORMALLY ELECTED

Reconsideration of Previous Even ing's Work and Contracts Let for Music and Drawing Books for

Four Years-Attorney's Opinion

The closing of the school year is re-uiring the Board of Education to hold a series of nightly meetings, which it is hoped by them will be terminated with the session this evening. The most important matter before the board last evening was a decision regarding the corps of teachers to be employed during the coming year. While this decision was reached in secret session, the fact of the agree-ment was announced publicly, though the names were kept secret until they can be legally elected. This is in ment was announced publicly, though the names were kept secret until they can be legally elected. This is in conformity with law and custom. It is highly desirable that the corps of teachers be selected early, that the teachers may have ample time to make their personal arrangements, but the law does not permit them to be formally chosen until the first meeting in July. The teachers who have been rejected will be notified, but the list will not be made public at present. The action taken at the preceding evening's session regarding music and drawing books, whereby bids for supplying them for four years were rejected, was brought up again on a motion for reconsideration. It had been the opinion of the board that a two-thirds vote was necessary to accept a bid, and for that reason the bids had been rejected. But it was found that a majority were in favor of letting the contracts. This was one of the subjects which kept the board in secret session as a committee of the whole for several hours. When the committee reported to the board, it was with the recommendation that the bids for drawing books be rejected, the bid of Silver, Burdette & Co., for the same music books which have been in use in the city for seven years, and the bid of D. C. Heath & Co., for the natural Silver, Burdette & Co., for the same music books which have been in use in the city for seven years, and the bid of D. C. Heath & Co., for the natural vertical system of writing books, be accepted. The recommendations were adopted. In accepting these bids the board buys no books, but determines that they shall be in use in the city for four years, and the price of the books to the pupils and the conditions of the supply are determined. The adoption of the bid for drawing books was warmly discussed, President Davis and Messrs. Washburn and Chambers being in the minority opposed to binding the city for four years.

The matter of the board taking eight pages in The Times souvenir book for the National Educational Association at a cost of $200 was debated at considerable length, the power of the board to make such an appropriation being contested. The matter was referred to the City Attorney for an opinion.

Superintendent of Schools Foshay was granted an extra clerk for one month, to be named by himself, at a cost not to exceed $60.

The bonds of each of the companies whose bids had been accepted were fixed at $5000.
